FOREWORD

In this time of international tension caused by the "cold war" between Eastern Communism and Western Democracy, when people everywhere are vaguely uneasy about what is to come, when everyone is apprehensive concerning the new atomic age, it is good to take a long view of man's history, to look backward as well as forward. The history of the past gives us knowledge of the mistakes to avoid, and added confidence that despite all wars and changes, the race of man will survive. The future is something to build for, with the hope and purpose that life in centuries to come will be better for all men. With the potentialities of scientific discoveries and democratic advancement we can look forward to a world at peace, without racial or nationalistic prejudices, or discrimination, when the necessities of life will be available to all.

It seems reasonable to believe that one means of building a stronger society for the future would be to improve its foundation units, the units we know as families. Any family which has a knowledge of its backgrounds and traditions is somewhat more likely to be a worth while part of such a society. This gives significance to the work of the family historian.

Research into family backgrounds and records can be a hobby, a profession, or an avocation. For the present writer the research began only as a hobby; with the increase in the number of facts accumulated, with the heightened interest of others, the importance of this work accelerated with the growing demand for the publication of the record and the hobby became an avocation.

From Biblical times onward genealogies of the great and near great have been recorded, more or less completely and accurately. During the Middle Ages of Europe the custom declined, due mostly to the lack of literacy in all but a few. There followed the centuries to World War I, during which aristocracy and nobility were all important and a person's lineage was of great concern to him if he aspired to a high place in those realms. In America the picture was somewhat different. Most of the immigrants from the old world to the new were of humbler circumstances; they brought with them across the Atlantic a desire for religious and political freedom and economic opportunity, but little knowledge of their ancestry.

In colonial times in our country, when men were laboring to settle a new land, to make a living for themselves individually, there was little desire for facts of lineage and small opportunity to obtain them. Some public records of vital statistics were kept by town clerks, by church and cemetery officials, but these were, at best, fragmentary since there were few laws or none at all requiring such records be kept. After the American revolution there was a resurgence of interest in and desire for facts of lineage, since many families had attained wealth and social position. During the nineteenth century, Society reached a new pinnacle of importance. Social status was based on military or political achievement, community leadership and, to a lesser extent, on landed wealth.

These families of the new aristocracy sought to have their lineage traced; this was done either by professional genealogists, some of whom were unethical and unscrupulous in their methods, or by members of the family in the later years of their lives. Some lineages were traced many centuries back into the history of Europe; in many cases they were based on insufficient documentary proof and were later discredited. Such is the case with the Ap Adam lineage for Henry Adams of Braintree, Mass., which is believed by many to have been originated by a genealogist commissioned by Pres. John Quincy Adams. There were other instances of like nature. Yet there were many records discovered through the honest efforts of those in the research field.

Today in the twentieth century the extent of desire for knowledge of one's forebears varies widely. There are those who are intensely interested in knowing who their ancestors were and what they did. Others are wholly uninterested, especially those whose families have moved repeatedly, and ever farther westward, farther from their eastern origins. There are those who are chiefly interested in establishing their descent from some ancestor, or ancestors, who played a greater or lesser part in the early wars of our nation, or who were among the first comers to the colonies, for the single purpose of becoming members of organizations whose requirements for membership include proof of descent from such forebears.

There are many other reasons for interest in family history. This writer's interest stems from an interest in history in general, and from a desire to search out the facts and to record them, whatever they may be. Also, he believes that for a complete understanding of one's self it is necessary to have some knowledge of one's background, both environmental and hereditary. In order that future generations may have these facts, it is necessary that these facts be recorded; this task has been assumed by the writer.

It has been intended that this book shall have as wide a use as possible; not alone by members of the Perry family, but by genealogists and researchers for other families. It was with this idea in mind that as many facts concerning those who married into the family, such as names of their parents, their dates of birth, etc., as could be obtained, have here been set down and recorded. Other family historians may establish important connections and find data elsewhere unrecorded in this manner. It is also hoped that this may serve as a challenge to other family historians.

In large part this book has been built up from information submitted by members of the family. Where possible the writer has atttempted to verify the statistics, but in most instances substantiation was out of the question. Therefore, unavoidably, many errors doubtlessly appear in this record, for which the writer disclaims direct responsibility. It is hoped the reader will understand the difficulties under which a record such as this is compiled, and excuse the inaccuracies.

Barring exigencies of health and other unforeseeable circumstances, the writer will continue with research in the history of the Perry family for another score of years with a multiple purpose in mind: to correct the errors of the record as it now stands; to discover the facts concerning those branches of the family which to date remain unknown; to record the chronicles of the next generation; and to publish finally a second edition of this Perry history. Then may there be another to carry on the work of recorder into the twenty-first century and beyond.

It is urged that all members of the family who discover errors in the present volume send the corrections to the writer. Facts about any part of the family not heretofore submitted and so not included in this writing, and reports of marriages, births, deaths, and removals as they occur are necessary for the projected history to come; therefore it is hoped they will be forthcoming. This will assist the writer in the production of a better Perry history in the year 1980.

Much could be said concerning the discouragements, the vicissitudes, the frustrations encountered in the work of gathering the data for a history of this, or any, family. There are many who, for devious reasons, declined to answer enquiries sent them to obtain needed facts. (It is to be hoped that these people will not be too chagrined at not finding their records in this history.) Many hours have been spent in search of elusive facts, without success. Many family records have been lost in fire and flood. Yet all of these have been counterbalanced by the romance of the work: the joy that comes with the discovery of facts long hidden, the opportunity to become acquainted with the many fine and interesting people of the family; the satisfaction which comes with the completion of a memorial to the lives of those who have passed into death and the beyond; the knowledge and hope that this incomplete record may serve as a torch and beacon to those yet to come.

The writer herewith wishes to acknowledge the kind assistance of all who have contributed to the success of this writing; a list of all their names would be too lengthy for inclusion in this space. Special mention is due those, without whose encouragement and aid this work would not have been completed: Thomas D. Perry Sr., of Moorestown, N. J.; Amos D. Perry of Cresco, Iowa, now deceased; Francis W. Perry of Bellevue, Wash.; Eugene R. Perry of Owego, N. Y.; Warren D. Perry, of New York, N. Y., now deceased; C. Eugene Stoddard of Chevy Chase, Md.; J. Sidney Alexander of Elgin, Ill.; Mrs. Laura E. Fifield and Mrs. Ivy Watson of Salt Lake City, Utah; Mrs. Ethel Jean Woodruff of National City, Calif., now deceased; Mrs. Charlotte Ratcliffe of Winnetka, Ill.; Mrs. Rachel Redington of Des Moines, Iowa; and lastly, Mrs. Blanche Adams of Osage, Iowa, whose love of her family inspired the writer to begin the search for the records herewith presented.

Explanations and Abbreviations Used In This Book

Each family unit consists of the name of the member of the family, the name of the husband or wife as the case may be, and the names of their children, together with the facts concerning the lives of these people. The parentage of the husband or wife is given where possible. The parents of the family member are also given for sure identification: the name of the parent who is the lineal descendant of John Perry is given second, followed by the line of descent. The line of descent is not carried back to the immigrant ancestor in those generations later than the sixth, with some exceptions; this was considered a purposeless repetition. Also the line of descent is given only for the first of a set of brothers and sisters; in the others of that set the abbreviation "anc above" is given to indicate that the descent is the same as for that of his brother or sister immediately above. In the line of descent, the first names only are given for those whose family name is Perry.

The name of the wife or mother is given as her maiden name when first introduced except where the maiden name is unknown; this is for purposes of clarity and simplification. Where the maiden name is unknown, the first name is followed by "....."

In the listing of children, the family name is omitted since it is the same as the father's family name mentioned directly above the list.

All members of the family (and some others) are numbered consecutively through the book. When first introduced, the number is followed by an "R" (record) to show that that person's full record follows in its proper order.

In some cases the father of the immigrant ancester is given in the line of descent, followed by the generation number —0. In all cases the immigrant ancestor is assigned the generation number —1. Where father and son were both immigrants, the father's name bears the generation number —1, and the son's the number —2.

The address given in each unit is the last known address; it is probable many of the addresses are already outdated, yet they are given since they may serve as clues to the present or future location of the persons concerned.

It is imperative that abbreviations be used in a record of this sort. Those here used have been kept as nearly uniform as possible:

AN INCOMPLETE HISTORY OF

THE DESCENDANTS OF

JOHN PERRY OF LONDON

PART ONE

Origin In England and the Massachusetts Colony

The Rev. John Perry, Rector of Farnborough, Hampshire, England

The history of this Perry family parallels and reflects the general history of the country in whose roots it is firmly established. As most of the families of colonial New England originated in old England, so did the family named Perry. Before the American Revolution, members of the family had begun to move westward, settling in New Hampshire, Vermont, Maine, and at Worcester, Mass. After that war for independence from the mother country, the Perrys followed the migrations of the whole people from the eastern seaboard and the heart of New England across the Appalachians to the Ohio Valley, the Great Lakes region and the Mississippi Valley all before the Civil War.

Across the Plains states, across the high Rockies, the Perrys followed the trails of the frontier until the Pacific Coast and the twentieth century were reached. At each stopping place across the continent some remained and some passed on. Since 1900 and especially since World War I, there has been a diffusion of Perrys to all parts of the country, in which they moved not only westward, but eastward again, and southward, until now there is scarcely a part of the United States of America which does not have some of the family.

In another way the Perry history has been similar to that of the whole nation: the first four or five generations, in New England, primarily of English or other British descent, united in marriage with those of like blood. Then as the tide of immigration and the tide of westward expansion commingled, there was conjugal union with people of many national strains.

In matters of religion, the family, originally orthodox Church of England, followed the national trend of intermixture with representatives of many Protestant and Catholic denominations. The Baptists, Methodists, Congregationalists, and the Presbyterians (the Scotch-Irish strain of the family) all found numerous adherents among the family. One large branch of the family followed Joseph Smith from New York and Brigham Young to the State of Deseret (Utah). There are many Pentecostal and Seventh Day Adventist members of the family. Today there is scarcely a Christian sect, not excluding Christian Scientists, which is not represented by some one in this family.

As the nation developed from an agrarian economy to an industrial, so has the Perry family, who were chiefly farmers in their New England homes, diversified their occupational inclinations until now there are members of the Perry clan in most trades and professions and large numbers of them earn their livelihood in the factories and shops of the land. There has been a large number who served their fellow men as teachers and college professors, some attaining national renown; a considerable number have been ministers of the gospel; others have been doctors, lawyers, and engineers. Only a very few have been politicians or professional soldiers. From earliest times a few of the family were well educated; through the course of the nineteenth century the number increased; and today many are college or university graduates, some with several academic degrees. In this way, too, the family followed the national trend.

When the nation went to war, from the earliest "French and Indian Wars" to the latest Korean conflict, Perrys by name and by descent have been found in all ranks and in all branches of the Armed Services, serving with courage and valour, doing their duty in emergency and returning to their normal civilian lives as quickly as possible.

Thus this family, whose history so closely resembles the social and economic history of the nation, shows few elements of difference from hundreds of other families. In the main it can be said that as a whole the Perrys have been honest, law-abiding, industrious men and women. Most of them have been religious by nature, loved their homes and families, and served their communities and their country to the best of their abilities. Physically speaking, no generalities can be drawn since there have been wide variations in stature, in color of hair, eyes and complexion. In short, this is a history of the typical American family and of the common man.

Three theories have been advanced regarding the origin of the name Perry. (1) The name came first from Rome, meaning "a son of Peter," changed to "Pierre" in French Normandy, and anglicized after the Conquest to the present Perry. Prior to 1066 a family of the Counts of Peeri resided in Normandy; their estate was known as "De Piron." (2) The name was of Welsh origin, being first ApHarry, changing later to Parry and then Perry. Most historians believe, however, that the Perrys of Wales originated in the shires of England. (3) The name was derived from the Latin word "pirum" meaning "a pear" and was originally used by one living near a pear tree. Poire is pear in French and in early English it was pern.

In ancient records of England, in the Domesday Book, in "Burke's General Armory," "American Armories," and "Landed Gentry" the name appears in many forms such as Pyrie, Pyrye, Perye, Perey, Pirry, Pirie, Peary, Perry and others. On the roll of Battle Abbey it is spelled Pery; in the Domesday Book of 1086 the name is Peret in form. These early records show that many with this name were granted coats of arms for bravery or other notable service. In the rolls of 1273 were Walter atte-Pyrie in Oxfordshire, Richard de la Pierie (or Pirie) of Somersetshire in 1327, and William atte Perye at a little later date.

During the fifteenth and sixteenth centuries there were many of the name living in England. A Robert Perry, a resident of Halse, Somersetshire, and his wife Alice had a son named John who married Joane, daughter of Richard James; they had Robert, Joane, Grace and Elizabeth. This second Robert married Elizabeth, daughter of Thomas Warren and had: Joane, Elizabeth and probably others. In Blackwall, Essex, there was a Phillip Perry in the seventeenth century; he and his wife Elizabeth Manly had: Thomas, Phillip, Elizabeth, Susannah, Fleming, Sarah, and John. This John first married Ann, daughter of Samuel Watlington, and had Phillip, John (d. young), Thomas, John, Samuel, and Elizabeth; by his second wife, Mary Gibson there were no children. The second John married Elizabeth Broome and from them sprang the Hertfordshire line of Perrys.

Of the earliest known ancestor of the family whose record follows, little is certainly known. One reference in the public documents of early seventeenth century England is of the highest authenticity; it is the Probate Registry of Winchester statement that letters of administration on the "estate of John Perrie of Farnborough, clarke" were granted by the Consistory Court of Winchester, 3 May 1622, to Judith Perry, his widow. The accompanying inventory of the items of his property is dated 23 August 1621, which probably shows that the intestate proprietor must have died prior to that date, though undoubtedly in that year.

Further corroborative evidence is found in the notice of indenture of apprenticeship of his son John found in the rolls of the Clothworkers' Company of London drawn 26 November 1621, which is quoted verbatim in chapter two of this record, and which states that John Perry was a clergyman (clerk) of Farnborough, Southampton, who died in 1621.

Arthur Latham Perry-7 (6903) (Chap. 17) in the chapter entitled "An Ancestral Research" contained in his book "Miscellanies" which was published in 1902, stated that it was his belief that there was no town named Farneborough in Hampshire (or Hants as it is locally known) which is an alternate title for the County of Southampton (officially), that he believed the village of Fareham in the same county was the one meant in the above references. This writer wishes to take exception to these statements which were understandably made in view of the fact that the village of Farnborough was of little importance in 1902 that its name did not appear on any published map.

To quote from the Official Guide and Handbook of Farnborough (Hampshire) for 1954-55: "Farnborough is situated in Hampshire near the borders of Surrey and Berkshire, and is thirty-three miles from London. Its history may be said to date even further back than 1086, for it is probable that Farnborough was included in King Alfred's will as part of the land left by him to his nephew Ethelm, in 901. In 951 this heritage passed into the possession of Bishop Aelsige, then Bishop of Winchester.

"At that time Farnborough was a small village set in a vast expanse of heathland. In 1811 the population numbered 360, and in 1851 it was 477. In 1921 it had grown to 12,636, and at the 1931 census was returned as 16,359." "The town is mentioned in the Domesday survey of 1086 under the name of Ferneberga (i.e. Fern Hill). The records of the Priory of St. Swithin for 1244 and 1284 mentioned a knight's fee as being payable to the Bishoprick of Winchester' respect of the manor variously referred to as Farnburge or Farneburewe." The reason for the sudden growth of the town about 1900 was the fact of the permanent installation of the headquarters of England's aeronautical research and development at this place.

"The Parish Church is dedicated to St. Peter, although a reference in a will made in 1537 to "the Church of our Blessed Lady of Farnbrowe" indicates that the original dedication of this Church was to St. Mary. Its registers go back to the year 1584, but the unbroken record of its successive rectors since 1290 show that it was in existence in the thirteenth century." The location of this church is found on Church Street between the Crescent and Rectory streets. It is still in use and in a fine state of repair, although considerably changed and enlarged since the days of the Rev. John Perry.

Early Generations In America

Prior to the publication of his book entitled "Miscellanies" in 1902, Arthur Latham Perry-7 (6903) (Chapter 17) discovered an old record in London, England, which established the identity of the man who became the immigrant ancestor of the large family whose records are herewith published, none other than John Perry of London. Although comparatively few facts are known about this man, yet there are enough to set him apart from the many others who bore the same name and who were residents of London and contiguous areas in the seventeenth century.

Sir Owen Roberts, F.S.A., the then nominal clerk of the ancient and honorable "Clothworkers' Company" of London, allowed Professor Perry to search the records of that company; the search was rewarded when the following entry in abbreviated Latin was found:

> "Lawson: — Johes Perrie filius Jonis de ffarneborough in Com. Southt. Clice Def. Appr. Johi Lawson a die Dat Septem Dat XXVI Novemberr 1621."

Rendered in complete Latin text, this entry would probably read:

> "Johannes Perrie filius Johannis de Farneborough in Comitatu Southampton Clerici Defuncti; Apprenticius Johnni Lawson a die Dato Septem (annos). Datum vicesimo sexto Die Novembris 1621."

Translated into English these phrases will read:

> "John Perrry, son of John of Farneborough, of the county of Southampton, a cleryman deceased, is put apprenticed to John Lawson for seven years from this date, namely, November 26, 1621."

The functions of the clothworker proper were partly mechanical, but mainly mercantile and capitalistic. The dealings of the clothmaker and his workmen were regulated by statute, the Parliamentary Statute of Wages of 1495; according to Charles Knight's "England" (II;114) the clothiers stood apart as pursuing the most important branch of England's industry in the fifteenth and sixteenth century, when there were no factories as they are known today, and every manufacture was done in the homes of the workmen. The clothworker-tradesman furnished the capital and managed the operations of the various workers, such as carders, spinners, weavers, fullers, shearmen, and dyers; thus may be seen the reason for the importance of apprenticeship and eventual membership in the Clothworkers Guild.

Further points of information concerning John Perry of London may be learned from the indenture of apprenticeship, in view of the customs of the "Company" and the customs of the city of London at that time. London then did not admit any man to full civic rights of citizenship until he reached the age of twenty-four years; the craft guilds were such prominent factors in the municipal life of the city that admission to full freemanship in any of these guilds was also simultaneously and consequently an admission to the freedom of the city. Therefore an indenture of apprenticeship was almost always so drawn that the day of the boy's craft-freedom would fall on the opening day of his twenty-fifth year. Thus it may be inferred that the date of birth of young John Perry fell in November 1604 and that he became clothworker and citizen of London in November 1628 (third year of Charles I.)

The date of John Perry's marriage to Johanna Holland is not presently known; she was a daughter of Joseph Holland, also a member of the Clothworkers' Company and a citizen of London. A full abstract of the last will and testament of Joseph Holland was published among others as a part of an article entitled "Genealogical Gleanings" sent from England by Henry F. Waters and published in N. E. Historical And Genealogical Register. Johanna's father died in 1658 and was buried on the south side of the christening pew in the parish church of St. Sepulchre, as his will, probated in 1659, directed, "between my former two wives."

The ancient church of St. Sepulchre, which dates from the time of the Crusades, is one of the most interesting of London's churches. Sir Christopher Wren superintended its reconstruction following the great fire of 1666. Captain John Smith is buried in its crypt. John Rogers the martyr was burned at the stake at Smithfield, the still open space between St. Bartholomew's and St. Sepulchre's.

The will of Joseph Holland made bequests to "my son-in-law, John Perry, and Johanna, his wife, my daughter, and their sons John Perry and Josias Perry, and daughter Elizabeth Perry." Later on in the will are left certain "needlework to my said daughter Johanna, wrought by my first wife, her mother." Further bequest in the same instrument "to my son Nathaniel Holland of Watertown in New England £20 in goods." This was Watertown on the Charles River in Massachusetts, where Nathaniel was a "freeman" in 1663, while in the neighboring Charlestown he had by his wife Mary a son Joseph, named for the grandfather, born 24 October 1659.

Eight years after Joseph Holland made his will and his body was interred in St. Sepulchre's the great Fire of London occurred. In the night of 2 September 1666, a fire broke out in the heart of London, which raged for four days and reduced the city to ashes from the Tower to the Temple. Thirteen hundred houses and ninety churches were destroyed. The loss of merchandise and property was beyond calculation. (Green III, 382) There is every probability that John Perry, then sixty-two years of age, lost his property and business in the Fire of London.

It is certain that late in the autumn, or early the next spring, he emigrated from London to Watertown on the Charles River, bringing his family with him. The oldest family Bible says, "In or about 1666 came from London John Perry," and so on. In the new world he built a home and the Charles became his Thames. Watertown was also the home of his brother-in-law Nathaniel Holland, who was still a resident in 1709, as well as of William Perry (3) (see Chapter 23) believed to have been his brother. Bond's "History of Watertown" records his death in that town in 1674 "aged sixty-one." This age was incorrect; it is now known he was approaching the age of seventy. Johanna, his wife, had died in 1667.

* Some sources raise a question as to the identity of Mary Cassell, saying she may have been Sarah, a widow whose first husband had been a Cassell, or Caddett, or Fassett, that her maiden name was Cady, and that she had a daughter Mary who mar. a Mr. Whitney.

PART TWO
JOHN PERRY (IV)

The First Three Generations

8 John Perry-3 (IV) b. 3 Mar. 1669/70, Watertown, Middlesex Co., Mass., son of Sarah Clary and John Perry-2 (III) (# 4) (John-1) Since his father and grandfather Perry had arrived in the New World only three years before his birth, this young John may be thought of as the first American Perry in his line. Very little is known about this man who was the ancestor of a large branch of the family, but he doubtless lived out his life at Watertown, and vicinity, probably as a farmer; whether he engaged in the family trade of cloth weaving and tailoring is not known. He first mar. Sarah Price 19 July 1693. She was b. 27 Sept. 1667, dau. of William Price and Mary Marblehead. He mar. (2) Mercy Swan 19 Dec. 1706. She was b. 1670, dau. of John Swan and Mary Pratt. John Perry (IV) died before August 1725, probably in the precinct of Cambridge (contiguous to Watertown) which later became Arlington. His widow Mercy Perry (as stated page 282, "History of Arlington, Mass." by Benjamin and William R. Cutter; pub. 1880) died 23 June 1748, aged 78.

22-R Mercy, b. 8 Aug. 1709, m. David Gleason

The facts of the life and death of John Perry (IV) are to be found mostly in various church and town records since no connected account has so far been found. The following excerpts are evidence that Mr. Perry's second wife was Mercy Swan, contrary to the statements of earlier genealogists that Sarah Price was his only wife, and that he had land at Cambridge Rocks.

The Ancestry of Mercy Swan

Among members of the Green Gate congregation of Leyden, Holland, were certain ones who found it expedient for reasons of business to take out citizenship papers since only citizens could belong to the guilds which controlled all skilled employment and independent trades in the city. William Bradford took out his papers in 1612; Jonathon Brewster his in 1617. "A half dozen other Pilgrim Fathers are to be found in this enterprising and less impoverished group, including Isaac Allerton of London, a tailor, who rose rapidly to prominence at Plymouth and was second in command for years; his brother-in-law, Degory Priest of London, a hatter . . . ." ("Saints and Strangers" George F. Willison, p 91) This Degory Priest, Signer of the Mayflower Compact, about whom so little is positively known, was born 1579/80. He mar. Sarah, widow of John Vincent, in Leyden 4 Nov. 1611. He became a citizen of Leyden in 1615. He sailed to America, leaving his wife and two daughters in Leyden, on the Mayflower, landing at Plymouth in 1620; 11 Jan. 1621 he died of sickness, as did so many others of that first band of Pilgrims.

The parents of Sarah, Edward Allerton and Rose Davis of Cornhill were mar. 14 Feb. 1579/80 at St. Diones, Backchurch, London, Eng., She was b. about 1688, prob. in London. After the death of Mr. Priest, Sarah married, in Leyden, Cuthbert Cuthbertson (Godbert Godbertson) 1621. They, together with their children, including Mary and Sarah Priest, arrived in Plymouth in July or Aug. 1623 on the ship Anne, of London, William Peirce, master. Sarah d. in summer of 1633.

Sarah, dau of Degory and Sarah Priest, mar. John Combs. Mary, their other dau. b. 1613, Leyden, mar. Phineas Pratt, 1630. Henry Pratt, the father of Phineas, for preaching the gospel contrary to the rules of the Established Church of England, and as a non-conformist minister, was imprisoned at the same time that over four hundred religious teachers were confined in damp and gloomy jails in England for the same offence. Henry was a son of John Pratt; according to tradition, this John Pratt or his father was a Frenchman who bore the surname of Plat or Platt, and who having fled from France during some political excitement in that country early in the 16th century, became an "armour-bearer" to the Monarch of England, and his name was subsequently changed to Pratt. Phineas Pratt, born 1590-93, was one of a company of about sixty sent out by Thomas Weston a merchant adventurer, from London to found a colony on the New England coast. The ship Sparrow touched land at Damariscove Islands in May 1622 and arrived at Plymouth the same month. Later with additions from two other ships these men left Plymouth and settled at Wessaguscus, in the present town of Weymouth. The next year Mr. Pratt left that colony to settle in Plymouth where he became a purchaser in 1626. He died in Charlestown 19 April 1680, leaving nine children. (For a more complete account of the life of Phineas Pratt see: "Phineas Pratt and Some of His Descendants" by Eleazer Franklin Pratt, 1897)

Joseph, son of Phineas and Sarah (Priest) Pratt mar. Dorcas Foldgier (Folger) whose sister Abiah was the mother of Benjamin Franklin the great American statesman, philosopher and inventor. Mercy Pratt, dau. of Phineas and Sarah, mar. a James Perry and lived in Dunstable.

Mary Pratt, dau of Phineas and Sarah, died 11 Feb. 1702-3 aged about 70 yrs.; she (prob) mar. John Swan of Cambridge 1 Mar. 1656. Of John Swan's background nothing is known; he was born about 1620/1 in England. (Mary was his 2nd wife.) He d. 5 June 1708, aged 88 years.

Had not Ebenezer Perry become involved in several lawsuits or court cases, we would have known very little about him; we still are met with a rather vague character enshrouded in the mists of time. The excerpts from various sources hereafter quoted stand as evidence and should be accepted as proof this Ebenezer was the son of John Perry (IV) of Watertown and Cambridge and his second wife Mercy, and thus a descendant of John Perry of London; and was the father of Abijah Perry Sr. the progenitor of an extensive branch of the family whose history forms a considerable segment of this writing. The report of one family historian gives Conn. as the birthplace of Ebenezer, father of Abijah Perry Sr. Family tradition (believed now to be unfounded in fact) held Ebenezer to have been a cousin of Commodore Oliver Hazard Perry who won fame in the Battle of Lake Erie during the War of 1812, and his brother Commodore Matthew Calbraith Perry who was instrumental in opening the doors of Japan to Western civilization in 1853, these being descendants of Edward Perry (see Chapter 26). After long and arduous search was made attempting to link these two distinctly separate Perry families, the conclusion that no such connection existed in fact was reached, and compelled acceptance. Further, according to all facts available, this Ebenezer Perry was born at Cambridge, Mass., and not somewhere in Conn., of unknown parentage.

The deeds (Middlesex County Deeds) show that Ebenezer Perry was a cordwainer (a leather worker or shoe maker) of Cambridge in records dated 1730 to 1736, (see quotations in record of his father above); as a practitioner of physick or physician in Lexington 1743 to 1747; as a physician of Groton 1748-1757; as Physician of Wilton (N. Hamp.) 1762 to 1768; as physician of Woburn 1773 to 1776; and again in Wilton in the same year—1776. Since there is no further record of him after the latter year, it is probable that he died soon after that. An Abigail Perry is enumerated in the 1790 Census of New Hamp. as of Wilton; she was probably Ebenezer's widow. Woburn, Lexington, Groton as well as Cambridge, Arlington, Watertown, and Newton all lie within Middlesex County; Wilton is situated in Hillsborough County, N. Hamp. adjoining Middlesex.

A petition from Wilton addressed to governor and council dated 10 June 1768 was signed by Abijah Perry, Ebenezer Perry and Jonas Perry. (izid. 13:551)

A Remonstrance from the inhabitants of Wilton addressed to the Governor and council, dated 272 April 1768 was signed by Abijah Perry. (Ibid. 13:552 & 3)

At least five court cases in which Ebenezer Perry, Physician is named either as plaintiff or defendant are recorded in the N. Hamp. State Papers. In two of these he is listed as being of Londonderry. In another Abijah Perry and Jonas Perry are the plaintiffs against Dr. Ebenezer Perry. Also there are a considerable number of records of transfers of land and other property.

In 'History of the Town of Wilton (N. Hamp.) by Abiel Abbott Livermore and Sewall Putnam, in the list of Revolutionary Soldiers from Wilton (p. 100) it is stated Abijah Perry served five months at the Tie (Ft. Ticonderoga) in 1776, personal; and Dr. Ebenezer Perry by his son Jonas, twelve months at Winter Hill, by his son Ebenezer eight months in the Canada voyage in 1776.

Manuscript records of the Second Church of Cambridge, Mass., which were not included in the compilation of the Cambridge Vital Records 1742 (p. 11) Cutler's History of Arlington (Mass.) also gives this record of baptism of Abijah. Cambridge (Mass.) Vital Records records the birth of Ebenezer and the intention of marriage to Abigail Russell of Lexington.

There is no record of any probate in the Middlesex County Registry for Dr. Ebenezer Perry or Abigail (Russell) Perry, nor in Hillsborough Co. (N. Hamp.) records.

This Ebenezer and Abigail Perry are not to be confused with an Ebenezer Perry, a merchant of Boston who married Abigail Monroe in Boston about 1741; the Boston Ebenezer was probably a descendant of John Perry of Roxbury.

The Ancestry of Abigail Russell

William Russell-1 and his wife Martha, ancestors of the Lexington Russells, arrived in Mass. from England, a short while before 1645 (prob.) with three or four children. James Cutler-1 b. about 1606 in England. Family tradition states he was either a son of, or a descendant of Sir Gervase Cutler of Sprawton, Norwich, Norfolk, England, and his 2nd wife Lady Magdalen, dau. of Sir Edgerton, Duke of Bridgewater, who had 9 children. James Cutler and his 1st wife Anna . . . . were prob. mar. in England; their children were born in Watertown, Mass.: James (b. 6 Nov. 1635; d. 31 Jul. 1685); Hannah; Elizabeth; and Mary. James d. 17 Jul. 1694, aged about 88 yrs.; his wife Phebe two months before 17 May 1694.

There is a conflict as to mother of Joanna Cutler: some authorities state she was dau. of Mary, 2nd wife of James Cutler, yet Mary died in 1654; it is prob. that the statement Joanna was born 'about 1660' is an error, since her death record asserts she was aged 40 at her death in 1703.

Samuel Howe, father-in-law of James Russell-3, 1654-1724, was son of William and Mary (. . . .) Howe; William was son of Edward and Elizabeth (. . . .) Howe. Mary Nutting, b. 1655, wife of Samuel, was dau. of John Nutting and Sarah Eggleston; Sarah was dau. of Stephen Eggleston and Jane? . . . .

The first mention of Abijah Perry in connection with the transfer of property occurred when his father purchased six acres of land in Groton, Mass. "with a mansionhouse thereon and is chiefly orchard land . . . ." for fifty pounds from Ephraim Severance of Groton. (See quotation under Ebenezer Perry-4 (21) under date of 15 Jun. 1748)

Abijah Perry
Phebe X Perry

Abijah Perry sold his farm in the southwest part of Wilton to John Kimball, the deed being dated Apr. 30, 1801. (Hist. of "Wilton, N. Hamp." by Livermore and Putnam p. 464-5.) It was at this time that he removed to Elizabethtown, Essex Co., N. Y. at a distance of more than 200 miles northwest of Wilton.

Mr. Perry, farmer of Wilton and Elizabethtown, and a soldier of the American Revolution, died at Elizabethtown 6 Aug. 1819. His wife Phebe d. 21 Feb. 1830, also in that town. Their gravestones in Riverside cemetery there still bear legible inscriptions with the above dates of death and the ages "76 years 10 months" (for Abijah) and "88 years 9 months" (for Phebe) This fact has been stated by various people, among them Miss Florence Mc Cloud Perry (4847) in 1934 and Miss Mary E. Perry (4849) and Mr. and Mrs. Garland O. Perry (5134) in 1952. This is further proof that this lineage is correct.

51 Ebenezer Perry-5 son of Ebenezer Perry-4 (21) (anc. above) and Abigail Russell. Livermore and Putnam's "Hist. of the Town of Wilton, Hillsborough Co., N. Hamp." (p. 465) states: "Ebenezer Perry was the first town clerk of Wilton and served 2 yrs. At the annual meeting in 1763 he was chosen to take the invise (sic) of Poles and estates in order for assessment." However, this Ebenezer may have been Dr. Ebenezer Perry Sr.-4. The above cited record continues with the military service of Ebenezer Perry: "He was ensign in Capt. Timothy Clement's Co. in the defense of Piscataqua Harbor in 1776. He was a Lt. in service in N. Y. in 1777 and was killed Aug. 16, 1777 at the Battle of Bennington, while in Capt. Salmon Stone's Co."

Several different men named Ebenezer Perry served in the military forces from New Hamp. during the American Revolution, as seen in the official records of that state; Lt. Ebenezer Perry of Wilton, above, served in Capt. Timothy Clement's Co. of Col. Pierce Long's Regt. in Continental Service at Newcastle, for 63 days to 16 Oct. 1776, and later with the 5th N. Hamp. Regt. to reinforce the Continental Army in N. Y. as recorded in Vol. I (pp. 390, 438) of "State Papers of New Hampshire."

Lt. Perry was twice married; however, only the first names of wives are known: Hannah and Dorcas.

Descendants of Abijah Perry — 6

109 Abijah Perry Jr.- 6 b. 25 Oct. 1766, Wilton, Hillsborough Co. N. Hamp. son of Phebe Boutelle and Abijah Perry Sr.-5 (50) (Ebenezer-4; John-3; John-2; John-1) mar. Elizabeth Tippetts 24 Apr. 1796, prob. at Wilton or near there. Elizabeth b. 30 August, 1773, Methuen, Essex Co. Mass., dau. John Tippetts 3rd and Phebe Austin. Abijah the younger remained with his father on the farm and there his first four children were born. In 1801 his father sold the farm and the family went to Elizabethtown, N. Y. to settle. He d. in Elizabethtown in November. 1804; family tradition says he died from homesickness.

Elizabeth, widow of Abijah Perry Jr. mar. (2) Jeremiah Emery. She d. in 1813.

Children of Elizabeth and Abijah Perry Jr.:

315-R Gustavus Adolphus, b. 4 Jan. 1797, d. 2 May 1868, m. Eunice Wing

355-R Phebe, b. 19 Sep. 1804, d. 4 Apr. 1887, m. Aiken Sheldon
356 Ebenezer, b. about 1805

Marianne died as a young woman after several years of hopeless invalidism. Samuel Greeley Perry graduated from Yale and became a minister of the Gospel. Nothing is known of him further; he probably "Went West." The youngest son Ebenezer lived in Essex Co., N. Y., married and died there according to the only information available. He had three sons all of whom lost their lives in the Civil War, and four daughters. After the death of Abijah Perry Jr. and the remarriage of Elizabeth, their children did not remain together—Gustavus left home at the age of 10 yrs. because he did not like his stepfather; Caroline went to live with an uncle; Phebe was adopted by a Deacon Farnsworth, etc.—which is the reason facts about his brothers and their descendants are so little known to descendants of Gustavus (and to the writer.)

Elizabeth and Jeremiah Emery had a daughter Betsey who d. young and a son Jeremiah Jr. who mar. and lived in Michigan.

SEVENTH GENERATION

351 Gustavus Adolphus Perry-7 b. 4 Jan. 1797, Wilton, N. Hamp., son of Elizabeth Tippetts and Abijah Perry Jr.-6 (109) (Abijah Sr.-5; Ebenezer-4; John-3; John-2; John-1) Brought up in Essex Co., N. Y. His wife Eunice Wing b. 8 July 1797, Hinsdale, Berkshire Co., Mass., was dau. of Elisha Wing and Anna Boardman. In 1832, Gustavus purchased a "Book of Mormon" from a "Mormon" missionaary. Joseph Smith, who was b. in Sharon, Vt. in 1805, reared in Palmyra in the western part of N.Y., began the translation of the "golden plates" in 1827 which ended in the publication of the "Book of Mormon" in 1830. After studying the "Book of Mormon," Gustavus, his wife, Eunice, and their family, joined the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints (commonly known as the "Mormon.") A few years later they left their home in northern N. Y. and followed the trek of the Saints into western Mo. They tarried awhile in Farley, Platte Co., Mo. and in Pottowattamie Co., Ia. Following the death of the Prophet Joseph Smith in 1844, Brigham Young became the President of the Church. Due to the persecution of the Saints at this time, Brigham Young organized the Saints into Companies and started the trek across the western plains through uncharted wilderness and crossing the Rocky Mountains arrived on the shores of the Great Salt Lake 24 July, 1847, and founded the Territory of Deseret, later to become the State of Utah. Six years later, Gustavus Perry and his family joined an independent company of Saints and followed the path of the Saints across the plains, arriving in 1853 in what is now Utah. Gustavus and his sons took up farms about two miles south of Brigham, Utah, in Boxelder Co. When the community was incorporated as a town, it was named Perry after this family who were among the first settlers. Some of the descendants of Lorenzo Perry still own his farm; H. Eugene Perry, a descendant of Henry Elisha Perry owns part of his original farm, at the present time. The Perrys became active in Church and civic affairs. Gustavus was the First Presiding Elder of Three Mile Creek Ward.

Eunice (Wing) Perry died before 1863; Gustavus d. 2 May 1868; both at Brigham City, Utah.

Hamp., dau. of Elizabeth Tippetts and Abijah Perry Jr.-6 (109) (anc above) After her mother's death in 1813, Caroline was reared by an uncle, near Plattsburgh. In after years she told how they could hear the cannonading at the Battle of Plattsburgh during the War of 1812, and that night some of the soldiers from the battle camped on her uncle's farm. She became the second wife of Asa William Stoddard 4 Nov. 1824 at Elizabethtown, N. Y. Asa b. 17 May 1790 prob. some place in Conn., the son of Nathan and Eleanor Williams. They settled on a farm about 2½ mi. down the Bouquet River from Elizabethtown and there they remained until the autumn of 1852, when they moved to Michigan and started a new home on a quarter section of land that he had selected and received from the Government as a bounty (or pension) for his service in the Army during the War of 1812. The farm was near the village of Watrousville in Tuscola Co.; at that time the farm was 50 or 60 miles from the nearest railroad, probably at Pontiac, since she wrote in a letter still in possession of a grandson that they "took the cars" from Detroit to Pontiac where they hired a team to take them to Flint and from there to Tuscola (letter was dated 2 Oct. 1852) The farm is now in the 4th and 5th generations of descendants of Caroline and Asa Stoddard.

In the fall of 1858 they went to Michigan to settle on a new and heavily timbered 160 acres of land in Fairgrove Twp., Tuscola Co., a few miles from his parents. Being among the early settlers there, they endured most of the privations common to pioneer life. About 1863 Mr. Stoddard enlisted in the Army, as a sergeant. His regt. left for the front when his youngest son was just a few weeks old. He returned as a 1st Lt. and acted as Capt. in closing the affairs of the Co.

Before the war Cameron C. Stoddard served in the State Legislature at Lansing; after his return from the Army he served in various township offices including a number of yrs. as Supervisor. In the fall of 1872 he was elected to a 2-yr. term as County Clerk; he died before the end of his second term. His funeral was held in the County Court room since it was not believed that any of the local churches was large enough to accommodate the people who would wish to attend. He was also Secy. of the Co. Agriculture Society for many years; director of the school board; he was President of the village of Caro at the time of his death, and President of the Board of Trustees of the M. E. Inf. under Col. Bedel and Gen. Terry. He took part in the Union drive through the South in 1865. He had reached the grade of Sgt. Major before his discharge in 1865 after the war was over.

While on a furlough from the Army he went home and was mar. to Rocene Sherwin 20 Mar. 1864, Mason Village, N. Hamp. She b. 25 Dec. 1844, New Ipswich, N. Hamp., dau. Ai Sherwin (b. 1809 (?) W. Townsend, Mass., Eng.) and Sarah Boynton (b. 6-5-1810, Jamaica, Vt. Eng.) She went with her parents to settle in Wisc. before the war was finished. The red-haired "Lafe" joined her at Caledonia, Wisc. in Aug. 1865. In 1867 the Holts and Sherwins moved to Union, Ill., where the young husband farmed and taught school and attended Wheaton College for five years, studying for the ministry.

In 1880 he went to Nebr. to preach under Supt. Gates at Creighton. When Gates College was formed in 1882, at Neligh, Nebr. he was called to be its first president. His efforts in planning the courses of study, enlisting the faculty members, and soliciting monetary contributions for the new College were vital to the foundation of the institution. In 1887 he resigned the presidency; served three years as the pastor of a Church in Omaha, Nebr. then answered an evangelistic call. About 1893 he severed his connection with the Congregational Church "so he could worship as he felt was the way told in the scriptures to worship." From then he lived in retirement.

Several years later Gates College was incorporated into her sister institution Doane College, Crete, Nebr. It is interesting to note that David Brainerd Perry (7048), who had a part in the founding of Doane College and was its Pres. 1882-1912, was a fourth cousin of M. L. Holt, though the fact was unknown to them both.

Lafayette died at Council Bluffs, Ia. 2 Aug. 1934; his wife Rocene had died 29 Dec. 1929, at Neligh, Nebr.

Descendants of James-6 and Tyrphena Perry-6

SIXTH GENERATION

111 James Perry-6 b. 11 July 1769, Wilton, N. Hamp., son of Phebe Boutelle and Abijah Perry, Sr.-5 (50) (Ebenezer-4; John-3; John-2; John-1) mar. Elizabeth Livermore. She may have been the Elizabeth who was a dau. of Daniel Livermore (b. 1746 in Sturbridge, Mass.) who was b. 3 Aug. 1779. This Livermore family was prominent in Wilton, N. Hamp. and vicinity; one of its members, Abiel Abbott Livermore, was co-author of the well-known "History of Wilton, N. Hamp." Some reports give the first name of James' wife as Nancy; others as Betsey; but it is believed Elizabeth is correct with Betsey as a shortened form of the name. It is recorded in the family Bible of Daniel Livermore Perry, now in the possession of some of his descendants, that James Perry died at age of 99 years and his wife 98 years; the place is not mentioned and is unknown.

James Perry and his family were resident in Elizabethtown, N. Y., in 1800 as evidenced by entries in U. S. Federal Census records taken at that town, which state the household of James Perry contained 1 male and 1 female under age of 10 years; and I male and 1 female aged between 26 and 45 years. (Not until about 1840 were the first names of individuals recorded in the Federal Census.) The first two children were born in Wilton, N. Hamp.

Children of Elizabeth and James Perry :

Joseph b. 17 Aug. 1772 (Durrie's "History of Holt Family" gives the birth as 10 Oct. 1775, but it is believed this is an error) prob. at Andover, Mass. He was son of Joseph Holt (b. N. Hamp.) and Betsy Dale. He was 4th cousin of Samuel Holt, husband of Phebe, the older sister of Tyrphena. (See Phebe Perry-6 (110) Chapter 6.)

It is probable that Tyrphena and Joseph Holt removed from Wilton to some unknown locality, after the birth of their first daughter, and that there were more children. Further facts about them and their daughter Betsy have to now eluded discovery.

SEVENTH GENERATION

4726 Ebenezer Perry-7 son of Elizabeth Livermore and James Perry-6 (111) (Abijah Perry, Sr.-5; Ebenezer-4; John-3; John-2; John 1) Name of wife unknown. He settled in Lincoln Co., Kansas. A report from E. D. Parlow, Clerk of District Court in Lincoln Co. in 1950, states records in Register of Deeds office show Eben Perry to be the owner of N. W. quarter of Section 8, Township 11, Range 9, in that county, in 1876. Mr. Parlow was brought up on the homestead on the opposite corner and he remembers his father talking about the Perrys; the Perrys were operating a store and a postoffice called Pottersburg on their property when the Parlow family arrived in 1876. Later the Pottersburg Post Office was moved to the Parlow land and the first Parlow became postmaster. There is a cemetery on the land once owned by Eben Perry, now owned by E. W. Heller of Vesper, Kans. Elijah Bird, born 1863, and resident of Lincoln Co. since 1871 remembered the Perrys; he said the old man (Ebenezer or James?) was a minister and had a son Bill who ran a blacksmith shop in that locality, that the father homesteaded some land near there and then moved away about 1873 or 74, that Ebenezer of Pottersburg removed to Delphos, Kansas some time after 1877. A law suit was filed in District court in Lincoln Co., 31 May 1877: Henry Perry vs. Eben Perry. There the trail of facts ended.

The son Amos became a Baptist minister and the daughter Lucy married another Baptist minister.

Children of Ebenezer Perry:

The 1850 census of Essex County, N. Y., lists the following as living in Keene, Essex County. It is probable they were the above Ebenezer Perry (4726), his wife and children. (The year of birth following each is the writer's computation.)

Abijah served as constable, Justice of the Peace, Co. Treasurer, Co. Sheriff, and Supt. of the State Arsenal. George Levi Brown said Abijah was a natural detective ("Pleasant Valley" pp. 460-2) Eliza's brother Orlando Kellogg was at one time Congressman from Elizabethtown. Their son Milo C. Perry became District Attorney of Essex Co. Their son Byron A. Perry was a merchant in Elizabethtown. Their dau. Louisa was a critic teacher in the model department of the State Normal School. Their son-in-law William H. Burbank was a clerk in the War Department in Washington, D. C. during the Civil War and was there at the assassination of Pres. Lincoln. He afterwards became a Boston merchant. Miss May Perry, granddaughter of Abijah Perry, now resident at Elizabethtown, observed that the Perry family had once been large and influential in that community, but that now it was almost gone from the town. All of her great grandfather Nathan's sons "went west" except her grandfather. At one time there were a number of large and pretentious Perry homes facing the town square. The original Perry homestead was "on the Plain" presumably outside of the town.

The Descendants of Amos Perry-6

117 Amos Perry-6, youngest son of Abijah Perry, Sr.-5 (50) (Ebenezer-4; John-3; John-2; John-1) and his wife Phebe (Boutelle) Perry, was born near the village of Wilton (Hillsborough Co.) N. H., 15 May 1783. Nothing is certainly known of his younger years or his schooling, although he undoubtedly grew to manhood at Wilton. His father sold the home farm at Wilton in 1801 and went to Elizabethtown, N. Y. to live, but how soon Amos made the change is not known. He and Sally Watkins were married 11 June 1810 at Walpole, N. H., some distance northwest of Wilton. She was born 19 Jan. 1786; her birthplace and parentage are unknown. If Amos did not go to Elizabethtown before his marriage, he must have taken his wife there soon after they were married, as their first child was born there, in 1811.

It is recorded in the book "Pleasant Valley" by George Levi Brown (pp. 273-4) that Amos Perry was among the cavalrymen under Capt. John Lobdell who went from Elizabethtown to serve at Plattsburgh in the Battle of Lake Champlain, Sept. 1814. (War of 1812)

Three children were born to Amos and Sally at Elizabethtown; then before the middle of 1816 Amos moved his family to Williamsport, Penn.* and by 1819 to Black River, Huron Co., Ohio. There, Sally the mother died 11 Oct. 1819. Amos must have been at Black River when his father died at Elizabethtown 6 Aug. 1819. Soon Amos returned to New York to live; then he and Hannah Bowen were married by Alvah Tippets Esq. at Lewis (Essex Co.) N. Y. 2 Oct. 1821. Their four sons were born at Elizabethtown, Essex Co.

In 1833 or 1834 Amos moved again, taking his family first to Ohio, and a few months later to Kane Co., Ill., where he settled on a farm in Dundee township, about 50 miles northwest of Chicago. Chicago was incorporated as a town in 1833. As recorded in "The Romance of Dundee Township" by Irma Dupre, Amos was listed among the voters at the first township election held 1 July 1835. The same source also shows that he played a part in the establishment of the Adams and Dundee Baptist Church in 1838 and in 1841 of the Congregational Church. "The Perry family of many members were here the earliest year of settlement . . ." In the record of the Baptist church among the first members are listed

*Hannah Perry's record shows Washington as the county, but now the only Williamsport, Penn. is in Lycoming Co., in the central part of Penn. Washington County is in the southwestern corner of the state. (See explanation of this record, page 364.)

"Father Amos Perry and six sons." (Amos' oldest son Frank did not remove to Ill. until a later date.) The last 20 years of his life were spent near Dundee and he died at the age of 71, 14 Aug. 1854, and was buried at Dundee. He left the Perry homestead to his youngest son Cyrus, with the provision that his widow Hannah was to live with Cyrus the remaining years of her life. Cyrus, however, moved to Iowa in 1864 or 65, and took his mother with him. She died at Cresco, Iowa, in 1879.

Principal source for the vital statistics of Amos Perry's family is a handwritten record done by Hannah Bowen Perry, now in the possession of the writer. Another source is "The History of Wilton, N. H." by A. A. Livermore (pp. 464-5). This source gives Amos' birth as 5 May, which is probably an error, since Hannah recorded his birth as 15 May.

Y. to Ill. in 1834 Amos Perry and his family stayed in Ohio a short time; Julianna probably remained there as she was married to Obadiah Higbee at Lower Sandusky, Ohio, 28 Jan. 1836. By 1838 Julianna and Obadiah were settled at Michigan City, Ind. in nw. corner of LaPorte Co. on Lake Michigan. At least the four younger children were born there. Then in 1846 they moved to Hartford, Warren Co., Iowa, near Des Moines, where they remained until 1869, when they moved to O'Brien Co., Iowa.

Obadiah was born in New Jersey 9 May 1810 of unknown parentage. He was a drover by trade, but probably did some farming. Julianna died at Calumet, O'Brien Co., 16 May 1892 from erysipelas and rheumatic fever, less than a month after the death of Obadiah 19 Apr. 1892 at Calumet; he died from a relapse after an attack of LaGrippe.

(See footnote under Amos Perry) Very little is known about Sally besides the facts that she married Warren Bailey, and died 9 Oct. 1845 at Walworth, Wisc., leaving two daughters, whose names are unknown. It is possible that Warren Bailey was a shipbuilder from Baltimore, Md.

4993 Frederick A. Perry-7, youngest son of Amos Perry- 6 (117) Abijah, Sr.-5; Ebenezer-4; John-3; John-2; John-1) and his wife Sally, was born 3 June 1819 at Black River, Huron Co., Ohio. His second name was probably Augustus. He left New York with his father and brothers in 1834 and settled in Ill. About 1856 he mar. Margarette Ann Morton, probably at Algonquin, Ill. as the Mortons were residents of that town. She was dau. of Robert and Margaret Morton, both born in Cavan County, Ireland. Robert b. 1 Nov. 1791; died 31 Mar. 1880; his wife b. 1799 and d. 28 Jan. 1869. The dates of Margarette's birth and death unknown.

Frederick was a farmer and a butcher. He was fatally struck by lightning while re-shingling a farm building, in July 1894; he died at Carpentersville, Ill. and was buried in West Dundee cemetery.

4994 Edwin Perry-7, son of Amos Perry-6 (117) (Abijah, Sr.-5; Ebenezer-4; John-3; John-2; John-1) and his wife Hannah Bowen, was born 3 July 1822 at Elizabethtown, N. Y. He mar. Mary Ann Northway, dau. of Francis Northway, Jr. and Lucy Case. She was born in 1827, possibly at Painted Post, N. Y., since her parents removed from there about 1840 and settled at Dundee, Ill Francis and Lucy Northway were buried at West Dundee cemetery.

After Edwin Perry left for the gold fields of California in 1852, his wife's health began to fail from what was called "creeping paralysis" in those days. She became blind in 1854 and finally was completely helpless; the last eight years of her life she spent in her father's home and had her dau. Adele with her, while Emma and Nettie (H. Ammerette) were with other families. Mary Ann died in 1862 and was buried in Old Dundee cemetery next to her infant son Amos.

After Edwin reached California in 1852, he became ill and died 1 Dec. 1852 at Sacramento. This is attested by a letter from the doctor attending him at his death.

Dustin's farm in Dundee Twp was a little to the north of Frank Perry's and northwest of Francis' farm. Sarah died 9 (or 18) Oct 1895 at Arthur, Iowa. 4996 Thomas Steel Perry-7, son of Amos Perry-6 (117) (Abijah, Sr.-5; Ebenezer-4; John-3; John-2; John-1) and Hannah (Bowen) Perry, was born at Elizabethtown, N. Y., 23 May 1826. He was only about 8 years old when his parents moved from New York to Kane Co., Ill. The years before he was married were spent on the Perry homestead near Dundee, and he remained a farmer all his life. Thomas and Mrs. Helen Loretta (Alden) Ellithorpe were mar. 8 Aug. 1851 at Geneva, Ill. (Recorded in Co. records.) She was dau. of Willard Alden and Aurilla Clark and was born 19 Sept. 1828 at Hinesburg, Vt. Willard Alden was probably son of Rufus Alden who, it is believed by his descendants, was a sixth generation descendant of John and Priscilla Alden of Mass., made famous by the poet Longfellow's "The Courtship of Miles Standish." The line of ancestry accepted by the organization of THE ALDEN KIN OF AMERICA is: John Alden-1 (m. Priscilla Mullins); Joseph Alden-2 (m. Mary Simmons); John Alden-3 (m. Hannah White); David Alden-4 (m. Judah Paddleford); Deacon David Alden-5 (m. Rhoda Leach); Rufus Alden-6 (m. Sally White); Willard Alden -7 (m. Aurilla Clark); and Helen Alden-8 (m. Thomas Steel Perry).

Helen 1st mar. Tyler Ellithorpe (or William Tyler Ellithorpe); their son William Leslie Ellithorpe was born 18 Jan. 1849. Leslie was brought up with his half brothers and sisters. His first wife was Mary, widow of Joseph Bean; they had no children. Leslie and his wife ("Aunt Made") went west to Montana, where she died. There was a family named Dale who were neighbors of the Perrys and Posts and Oberts of Maine, Minn. After the death of her husband, Mrs. Emma Dale took her children west to Montana. Some time later Leslie Ellithorpe and Emma Dale were married; they had no children.

In early 1862 Thomas Perry moved his family from Illinois to Winneshiek Co., Iowa, where the last five of the nine children were born. About 13 years later (1875) he moved again, this time to Ottertail Co., Minn., where he bought 73½ acres of land near Maine, which is 11 miles east and 9 miles north of Fergus Falls. The town consisted of a post office, grocery, blacksmith shop, the Presbyterian church, and cemetery, and two residences. The Perrys, who were Methodist and Baptist, attended the Presbyterian church there, because there was no other.

Helen Loretta Perry died at Maine 27 Jan. 1900, from a heart attack; she was buried in the Presbyterian church cemetery there. A few years before, their second daughter Salina, and her husband George Cruger and others of the family had left Ottertail Co. and had moved west to the Bitterroot mountain section of Montana, near Stevensville. Early in 1901 Thomas, in his 75th year, went out to Stevensville to live. Ten days after his arrival, he died from heart trouble. (22 Feb.) He was buried there.

4997 Cyrus Comstock Perry-7, youngest son of Amos Perry-6 (117) (Abijah, Sr.-5; Ebenezer-4; John-3; John-2; John-1) and Hannah Bowen Perry, was born at Elizabethtown, N. Y., 26 Nov. 1830. He was little more than three years old when his parents left N. Y. and settled at Dundee, Ill., where he grew to manhood. Like most of the family, he became a farmer. There is some doubt as to the date and place of the marriage of Cyrus Perry and Rebecca Louisa Page. Members of the family believe they were married 10 Oct. 1852 at Dundee, Ill. However, no such marriage is recorded in Kane Co.; and the 1850 Federal census in Ill. listed "Rebecca Perry" following the name of Cyrus Perry. Cyrus' obituary states they were married 10 Oct. 1852.

Cyrus Comstock Perry is presumed to have been named for Cyrus Comstock who organized the Congregational church at Elizabethtown 25 Mar. 1821. A picture of this man appears on page 27 of "Pleasant Valley" by Geo. L. Brown.

In 1854 when his father died, Cyrus inherited the homestead, with the provision that his mother was to live there the remainder of her life. However, the farm was lost, and Cyrus moved his family, and his mother Hannah, to Iowa in 1867 where he settled near Burr Oak in Winneshiek Co. (northwestern part of state). Nine years later the family moved to Howard Co., the next county westward. For more than 40 years Cyrus was a resident of Howard Co., living in several places, the last one being about two miles south of Cresco, on the New Oregon Road. Cyrus died 15 July 1917 at Cresco, and was buried at Oaklawn cemetery there.

Rebecca Louisa Page was born 16 Sept. 1833 at Milan, a small village in Erie Co., Ohio. She was the fourth daughter of Daniel Page, Jr. and his wife Louisa Smith, who were married in 1825. Louisa, born 15 Apr. 1807, was a dau. of a Methodist or Baptist minister, of Oxford, Ohio. After the death of Daniel, she married a Mr. Whitney; she died 11 Mar. 1884 at Eureka, Nev. Daniel died about 1841 in northern Ill.

Daniel Page, Jr. was a son of Daniel, Sr. and his wife Rebecca Moore. Daniel, Sr. was born 12 Sept. 1769 at New Fairfield, Conn. 19 Mar. 1795 at Pownall, Vt. he and Rebecca Moore were mar. She was born at Pownall 31 Mar. 1770. The elder Daniel studied medicine, but was at different times a surveyor, a farmer, and a tavern keeper. In 1795 or 96 he moved to Cazenovia, N. Y. where he laid out the present village of DeRuyter and was one of the proprietors of the town plat. In 1811 he removed to Dover, Cuyhoga Co., Ohio and there kept a kind of tavern. In 1815 he bought a farm from Reuben Pixley in second section of Ridgefield, Ohio, and moved his family there in Oct. the same year. The children of Daniel and Rebecca were: Hannah D. who mar. Ezra Herrick and settled in Oakland, Co. Mich.; Amanda who mar. Henry Dillingham and lived in Porter Co., Ind.; Lexey or (Lucy) who mar. Jabez F. Ivory and (2) Charles Sweate of Norwalk, Ohio; Sophia who mar. Calman Mason and (2) Amos Felt of Norwalk; Daniel, Jr.; and William who mar. Mary Brindle and (2) Amelia Dean, and settled in Calhoun Co., Mich. Daniel Page, Sr. died in July 1829 at Ridgefield, Ohio and his wife 18 July 1831 also at Ridgefield. These facts are recorded on pages 100-103 of Vol. 5 of "The Fire Lands Pioneer" pub. by the Firelands Historical Society; this article, written by Amos Felt, above, includes a detailed account of the capture by Indians of Hannah D. Page when she was about 11 years old.

There is a good basis for belief that Daniel Page, Sr. was descended from one of the brothers of Phebe Page who was a great grandmother of Abigail Russell, the wife of Ebenezer Perry (21), great grandfather of Cyrus C. Perry. Another descendant of this same family, Charles Nash Page compiled a History of the Page family (published 1911 at Des Moines, Iowa) in which Daniel Page, Sr. is mentioned. Also, the father of Charles and Viola Emelia Perry (5054) were married 16 Jan. 1887. She was born at Burr Oak, Ia., 8 May 1867, dau. of Alfred Eugene and Susan (Webb) Perry. Alfred Eugene and Cyrus Eugene Perry were first cousins.

N. Page lived for some time at Milan, Ohio, at the time Rebecca Louisa Page was born there. Furthermore, several of Charles N. Page's close relatives lived at Cazenovia, N. Y. and at Pownall, Vt.

Daniel Page, Jr. (a Baptist minister) and his wife Louisa, besides Rebecca, had Sabrina who mar. Samuel Shields; Jeurica; Adelia who mar. Mr. Everly; Mary Elizabeth who mar. Newton Babbitt and (2) F. C. Clark; and Truman Page who mar. Margaret Everly.

Rebecca Louisa (Page) Perry died 31 July 1918 at the home of her only dau. Florence in Minneapolis, Minn., the same day Florence died. Rebecca's interment was at Oaklawn cemetery in Cresco, Iowa.

Their only child was an infant who did not live. Gene died 10 Feb. 1933 and Viola a year later 3 Feb; both at Selah, Wash.

5044 Warren Bailey Perry-8, third son of Cyrus C. Perry-7 (4997) (anc. above) and his wife Rebecca, was born at Dundee, Ill., 11 Aug. 1859. At the age of seven or eight he moved with his parents to near Burr Oak, Winneshiek Co., Iowa. He had one year of high school at Cresco, Iowa, 1877. About that time his father bought a quarter section of land west of Vernon in Howard Co., Ia. The next winter he traveled with the Lee family, Lyceum entertainers, as a singer and clarinetist. In early 1880 Warren took up a homestead west of Big Stone Lake in Dakota Territory (now S. Dak.) but remained there only a few months.

Before going to Dakota he had met Caroline Mintey and after he returned they were mar. 13 Feb. 1881 at Cresco, Iowa. Caroline's father Alfred James Mintey was born at Ringwood, Hampshire, England; 5 Sept. 1828, son of James and Ann (Holders) Mintey. He came to America in 1854. Caroline's mother Jane Briton Hunter, dau. of John Hunter and Eliza(beth) Briton, was born 18 Mar. 1825/6 in Co. Tyrone, Ireland. Alfred and Jane were mar. in Ohio 26 July 1854. Besides Caroline they had: John Hamilton (1855-1944) mar. E. Isabel Kennedy, Emma Jane (1859-1912) mar. William Friend; Marget Ann (1870-1931) mar. Benjamin J. Scott; and four infants who did not live. Jane died at New Oregon, Howard Co. Ia. 18 Jan. 1913; Alfred 13 Aug. 1922 and both were bur. at New Oregon, their home since before 1858. Caroline was born there 16 Oct. 1861.

Warren and Carrie bought 6½ acres of land at New Oregon 14 Feb. 1882 and he began raising vegetables for the Cresco market. Here also were the beginnings of his greenhouse work. After seven years he bought 40 acres on the south edge of Cresco from Jeremiah Brenan, deed being signed 30 Sept. 1889. This place remained his home until the autumn of 1947. Here his business continued to expand until there were several thousand feet of greenhouse glass, and he had become one of the foremost florists of northeast Iowa. The greenhouse was operated a few years by his youngest dau. Jane and her husband after 1924, then it was sold to the present owner Mr. Koland in 1936.

In 1913 he discovered some Japanese stub rice popcorn which had accidentally crossed with golden bantam sweet corn. From this unprecedented cross he developed an entirely new strain of popcorn with at least 40 different varieties. He also developed some new varieties of melons and other plants.

In 1915 he bought 10 acres of land in the Yakima valley, Wash., which he planted with apple and peach trees. His next years were busy ones traveling between Iowa and Washington; he made several trips by automobile over roads which were gravel surfaced at best in those days.

Carrie Perry died at Cresco 10 Apr. 1905 and was b. at New Oregon. Warren and Minnie Belle Little were mar. 12 June 1906 at Cresco. She was b. 9 July 1867 at Burr Oak, Iowa, dau. of Alfred and Millicent (Hawkins) Little. She d. 9 Nov. 1932 at Cresco and was bur. in the New Oregon cy. Warren and Minnie had no children.

Warren B. Perry, a Republican by inheritance, became a Prohibitionist when that party grew strong; he was much disillusioned and embittered at the repeal of the Prohibition amendment in 1933. He joined the Methodist Church when he was 16 years old; his parents were Baptist but there was no Baptist church in Cresco at that time. He remained a good Methodist all his days.

After closing his old home in late 1947 he visited his daughters and other relatives in Portland, Oregon, Los Angeles, Calif., and Sioux Falls, S. Dak. Lacking less than four months of being 90 years old he died at the Sioux Valley Hospital in Sioux Falls 26 Apr. 1949. Burial was in the New Oregon cemetery, and so ended a full and colorful life.

He is the only one of his generation still living, all his brothers, his sister, and all his first cousins and their wives and husbands having now passed to the beyond; this circumstance is due in part to the fact that Jason was the youngest son of the youngest son of the youngest son. Jason attended the common school and high school in Cresco, Iowa. During the period 1890-1907 he taught school in several places, worked for a nurseryman, and engaged in other activities. The first four years at Yakima he prospered as a nurseryman growing the young trees for others to start orchards in that time when the Yakima valley was being changed from a country of sage brush to one of the most important fruit growing sections of the West. After that he devoted his time to his own fruit ranch, and continued to do so until he retired.

The next few years Garland was unsettled in occupation, especially after the Great Depression began in 1929 when he took almost any job available. In 1936 he became a railway postal clerk under Civil Service and is still in this work.

Garland has an uncommon versatility of interests, chief of which is traveling and camping, and photography, doing his own work and enlarging. He has a fine collection of 35 mm colored slides which they have taken on their trips to many parts of the country.

The hospitality shown by this family to the writer while he was in the Army stationed at Kansas City in 1942 has grown into a lasting friendship.

Jacqueline, dau. of Garland and Grace, was graduated from Julliard School of music in New York City in 1952, and received her M.A. degree from Northwestern University in June 1954. She will teach music while preparing for her career as a concert pianist. She already has delighted many audiences with her recitals of classical music.

In Dec. 1930 Garland and Grace bought their present home at 1723 Harvard Avenue, Independence, Missouri, a city rich in historical association having for years been the headquarters of the wagon-trains starting west over the Santa Fe, the Old Salt Lake, and the Oregon Trails, until 1844. It was here, also, that Joseph Smith brought a party of Mormons to found his New Jerusalem, in 1831, which settlement did not last.

Hazel Hunt Hadden is a poet of some ability. Of the poems which she wrote especially for this history, the following are selected:

TRANSITION

(To Albertis S. Hunt, Lois Perry Hunt, Orville Baldwin Hunt, Elsie and Olive Hunt, Gladys Hunt Dunn, In Memoriam)

When the last short breath was taken,
And the loves we'd known went far,
Quietly we laid our loved ones
Out where all the flowers are.

When the sun was slowly sinking,
In the gold and gorgeous west,
Inwardly we wept at parting
Where the flowers serve their best.

Gone the rich and lovely voices:
Gone where none can mar or sear;
Walking golden streets of glory,
Living where the flowers are.

SUNSET

It's wonderful to watch the sun go down
Far past the surging sea;
Such color no human hand could blend
To inspire poetry.
I wonder as I watch the sun go down,
My eyes view the western sea,
How soon I'll rise, past capricious skies
And the sun will set for me.

Josiah Perry

The First Three Generations

#13 Josiah Perry-3 b. 28 Nov. 1684 at Watertown, Mass., eighteen years after his father and grandfather had arrived in the New World, having left behind them in London, the old life in settled ways. He was the seventh child and fourth son (the second to live) of John Perry-2 (#4) (John-1) and his wife Sarah Clary. He became a weaver, like his predecessors, and was similarly industrious and frugal—some would call him parsimonious. Josiah Perry and Bethia Cutter were mar. 12 Jan. 1708, Watertown, Mass. She was b. 2 Dec. 1686, Cambridge, Mass., dau. of Ephraim Cutter and Bethia Wood. Ephraim was a son of the immigrant Richard Cutter, whose descendants became connected through marriage with a large number of New England's oldest and best known families, including many connections with the Perry family (see Chap. 4). They had ten children, all born at Watertown.

Shortly after the Peace of Aix-la-Chapelle, which seemed to promise a cessation of hostilities between the French and English in New England, during the intermittent "French and Indian Wars," there came a call to the towns in eastern Mass., then already becoming populous, for recruits and additions to what we now call "the heart of the commonwealth," namely, the town of Worcester. Worcester had many times been baptized in blood. Its first and second settlements had been entirely broken up by Indians in the French interest. Its first permanent occupation was made in 1713, and five years later the struggling hamlet was doubled in population and otherwise strengthened by a colony of Scotch-Irish, direct from Ulster, come at the invitation and encouragement of Governor Shute of Mass. In "Lovell's War," that soon followed, and in the "Old French War" of 1744-48, the people of Worcester had borne a full share. La Chapelle, a lull rather than a peace, provided time for a considerable movement westward.

The Perry family had found a home in Watertown and Cambridge on the banks of the Charles River for nearly ninety years when Josiah Perry (then sixty-six years of age) and his son Nathan (born in 1718, the very year the Scotch-Irish had settled in Worcester) heard and answered the call for settlers. In 1751 they, like Josiah's father and grandfather before him, went to a new land, in what is now central Mass. The original farm of eighty acres was purchased from Elijah Hedge, deed being dated 15 Apr. 1751; it was located on "Sagatabscot Hill" (the Indian name), the site now known as Vernon Street, Union Hill. It was held jointly in the names of Josiah and Nathan Perry, which fact may have tended to make the family more influential than it otherwise would have been. The land was near the northwestern slope of the hill just west of the original lot of Digory Sargeant, who settled there and tried to maintain his footing after every other settler had gone away, even after the Boston authorities had urged him to go. He was killed by the Indians, his wife tomahawked, and his five children carried to Canada, in 1704. Sargeant was buried by Capt. Howe of Marlboro, and twelve armed men, at the foot of an oak tree on the northern point of Sagatabscot Hill. Settling as the Perrys did so near the stirring events and traditions of the town, these must have left a deep impression on their lives, especially of the younger ones.

The Perry homestead, though rebuilt and enlarged several times, remained on the original 1751 site down through the years, owned and occupied by successive Perry generations until its sale following the death in 1902 of Joseph Stone Perry, great-grandson of Nathan. Subsequent purchases of additional acres enlarged the original farm; its value was also increased by the development of the town. The entire town of Worcester became a city in 1848; even ordinary farming lands became much more valuable under the municipality; and such a farm as this was, on high land commanding a view of all the main streets of the city, and in the vicinity of the College of the Holy Cross, and other public institutions, became in the course of time one of the most highly valued properties in the town. In later years, a little at a time, it was subdivided among the different heirs in the family line, so that by the beginning of the twentieth century Vernon St. on Union Hill was lined for half a mile or more by substantial homes, most of them owned and occupied by different Perry families. During the following fifty years the situation was changed; death and removals have left those homes to others, stranger to the name of Perry, until now there are few descendants of Josiah Perry resident in Worcester.

Bethia, wife of Josiah Perry, died in Watertown, Mass. 9 Oct. 1735, sixteen years before the beginning of the Worcester adventure. Josiah, then in his 52nd year, mar. Elizabeth, widow of Jonathon Harrington*, 10 Mar. 1736, prob. at Watertown. She was b. 3 Aug. 1687, Watertown, dau. of Joshua Bigelow and Elizabeth Flagg. She died at Watertown 26 Sept. 1748. *Mr. Sennett, author of "Our Perry Family In Maine" from which many facts in this section were taken (pages 5-7) was somewhat unclear in some of his statements.

Ebenezer Perry was living in Boston, Mass., in 1780. Jesse Perry settled in Westminster, Vt.

6711 Nathan Perry-4 b. 2 May 1718, Watertown, Mass., son Bethia Cutter and Josiah Perry-3 (13) (anc. above) mar. Hannah Fiske 1 May 1746, Watertown, Mass. by Rev. Storer*. She was b. 29 Sept. 1727, Watertown, dau. Deacon Thomas Fiske and Mary Pierce. Their first three children b. in Watertown, before the removal of Nathan and his father Josiah to Worcester, Mass. as related in the section on Josiah Perry-3 above.

Nathan was a weaver, like his progenitors; he became a deacon in his Church, like his son and grandson in succession. From the first he devoted himself assiduously to his loom, his farm, his church duties, and his civic responsibilities. Well-authenticated traditions made his manners somewhat gruff and otherwise eccentric; he showed the narrow spirit of an old guildman, as is proven by the fact that he was wont to be disturbed considerably if any one else set up the weaving business in Worcester, or if any person there learned any other branch of weaving than the common kind practiced as a matter of course by all the good housewives.

In civic affairs Nathan Perry was very prominent in the town and county of Worcester, especially after the bold stand he took in 1775 in favor of armed resistance to the Crown, when many of the wealthiest and most influential citizens of the town became Loyalists, and some of them went into voluntary exile. The farmer and weaver of Sabatabscot Hill, then fifty-seven years old, drew the confidence of his patriotic fellow-citizens to a remarkable degree. He was chosen treasurer of the county of Worcester in the opening year of the Revolution, and filled that position until 1790—15 yrs. During 13 of those years he was also treasurer of the town. For 9 yrs. before 1789 he was a member of the Board of Selectmen, and Chairman of the Board 6 of those yrs.

He was very strict in his observance of the Sabbath, which, then, began on Saturday night. He frequently took down the sermons in shorthand. He became Deacon of the Old South Church in 1783 and continued in that office continuously until his death in 1806, 23 yrs. in all. His son Moses was Deacon for 35 yrs. in the same church and for 6 yrs. in Union Church (successor to Old South); his grandson Samuel held the same office in Union Church for 35 yrs., making a total period of 99 years for the three generations of the Perry family in the deaconate.

The name of Nathan Perry appears often in the town records of Worcester. In 1761 he is called "Constable Perry," and also "Warden Nathan Perry." A list of those drawn as jurors dated 4 Jan. 1757, contains the name of Nathan Perry. In March 1760 his name was on the list of Assessors, Surveyors, Collectors of Taxes, and of Selectmen. On 26 May 1769 it was voted that James Goodwin, Jacob Chamberlain, and Nathan Perry be a committee to settle accounts with the Town Treasurer (previous to his own appointment). Again in 1768, 1769 he was named surveyor and collector of taxes, and on a committee to provide a schoolmaster. In 1770 he was elected to sit in the Elder's seat to assist others seated there in leading "ye congregation in singing." On completion of Old South Church and the sale of the choice of pews, March 1764, he had the 40th choice and took pew number ten. He was chosen Moderator of Town Meeting several times. In 1779 he was named to a committee of three to make proper provision for the families of non-commissioned officers and soldiers serving for that town in the Continental Army, agreeable to the resolves of the Court. In a record dated 1775 he was called Lt. Nathan Perry, who was called to assess damages for laying out a road. In 1773 he built a fence around the burying ground, and was agent with Wm. Young to fix the lines and boundaries of the parish to be formed from Leicester, portions of Worcester and Sutton. 12 March, 1781, Josiah Perry and James Barber were chosen tythingmen; 28 Apr. 1783, "We, the subscriben, have met and perambulated the line between Worcester and Ward." —signed Nathan Perry, Josiah Perry. Auburn was formerly called Ward. In March 1777 Nathan, with seven others, was chosen "Overseer of the Poor." Many other entries showing Nathan Perry's name appear in the Town Records.

At one time there was in possession of the family a book, an old religious work, written by Henry Gibbs, A.M., pastor of the First Church of Christ in Watertown, and printed in 1721 in Boston. Josiah probably bought the book since the Rev. Gibbs was pastor of his Church. The lids were wooden covered with leather. On the flyleaf in front was written: "Josiah Perry—His Book." Lower down on the same leaf appears: "Nathan Perry—His Book, Given him by his father in ye year 1750." On the flyleaf at the back of the book was kept the family record. The first record was "March ye third, 1670."

Two different historians of the Amidown Family give this information. The name Amidown was spelled variously: Amidown, Ammidown, Amidon. Joseph Amidown was grandson of Philip Amidown (1670-1774) and Ithamar Warfield. This Philip Amidown's first wife was Mehitable Perry, b. 30 Apr. 1680; d. 4 July 1699; dau. of Samuel Perry of Rehoboth, Mass. and Mary Millard.

The names of the children of Alice and Reuben Ammidown have not yet been discovered; however, it is known that Mrs. Rees Rickards of Blackinton, Mass. was a granddaughter.

*Benjamin Ward son Samuel Ward-3 (1678-1738) and Mary _____, Samuel Ward-3 son of Samuel Ward-2 (1641-1729) and Sarah Howe; Samuel Ward-2 son of William Ward who came to America in 1638. Benjamin was 2nd cousin of Gen'l Artemas Ward (1727-1800), the first commanding general of the American Revolution.

6737 Stephen Perry-5 b. 25 Oct. 1763, Sturbridge, Mass., son Hannah and Josiah Perry-4 (6709) (anc. above) mar. Priscilla Robbins (int. 2 Aug., 1788, Sturbridge) (Sturbridge, Mass. V. R. p. 259). Priscilla b. 5 Nov. 1762, Sturbridge, Mass., dau. Benjamin Robbins and Elizabeth Hemenway (or Hemingway) of Attleboro (mar. int. of Benjamin and Elizabeth announced 28 Mar. 1747).

The Sturbridge V. R. record the name of only one child for Stephen. He undoubtedly removed to some unknown place after 1788.

Son of Priscilla and Stephen Perry:

6795 Daniel, b. 2 Nov. 1788, Sturbridge.

6740 John Perry-5 b. 30 Oct. 1749, Sherborn, Mass., son Mary Babcock and Ephraim Perry-4 (6710) (Josiah-3; John-2; John-1) mar. Lucy Wooster dau. of Lucy Crockett and David Wooster (b. Chester, or Cheshire, England, 22 Feb. 1732 (exact date of birth of George Washington) after the death of his parents he came to America with an uncle, when he was 12 yrs. old, 1744, landing in Boston; d. 8-28-1808).

John Perry left Mass. about 1674, when he was 25 yrs. of age, and settled at what was later known as Crabtree's Point, a part of North Haven, in the Fox Islands which are in the Penobscot Bay on the southern, or Atlantic, coast of Maine. He also took land between Perry's Creek and Seal Cove, on the south Island, Vinalhaven. During the Revolution he was one of those who suffered much from foraging parties while Castine, Me. was in the hands of the British. Family traditions say that he was stoutly hated by the English because, when his neighbors all wished to take a neutral position during the War, he firmly refused to do so, though he should lose all he had. This attitude is similar to that maintained by his cousin Nathan Perry (6711). The British burned his house and carried off all his goods. He then went to what is now Rockland Highlands and built a new home. A party of British and Tories seeking him there found him not at home, since he was forewarned, and so burned this place. He then petitioned the Governor and the Council of the Commonwealth of Mass. for a commission to operate a boat which he had procured and named the Fly, for the sole purpose of interrupting the trade between the inhabitants (Tories) and the enemy. The commission was granted to Capt. John Perry 21 Aug. 1781 (Mass. Archives, Vol. 171, page 465.) He was successful in driving the British out of that section of Maine.

When and where he and Lucy Wooster were mar. is uncertain, but there is little doubt that it was subsequent to his removal to Maine. Lucy d. in Dec. 1832 and Capt. John mar. (2) the widow of William Perry (supposedly unrelated to John's family). This must have been after he was 83 yrs. old. Date of his death is unrecorded.

For a full account of the descendants of Capt. John Perry and Lucy Wooster, see the book entitled "Our Perry Family In Maine" written by the Rev. Charles Nelson Sinnett of Carthage, S. Dak. now deceased, published at Lewistown, Maine, 1911. Charles Sinnett was a son of Capt. Hugh Sinnett and Margaret Philbrook Perry, dau. of Capt. David Perry (6798). Charles Perry Sinnett, grandson of David Perry Sinnett, brother of Charles N. Sinnett, still resides at Bailey's Island, Me. Numerous other descendants of Capt. John Perry are also residents of Maine today.

It has not been thought advisable to include in this present account, the records of Capt. John Perry's branch since in most part it would not be more than a duplication of the aforementioned work by Rev. Sinnett.

6751 Josiah Perry-5 b. 9 Mar. 1755, Worcester, Mass., son Hannah Fiske and Nathan Perry-4 (6711) (Josiah-3; John-2; John-1). His younger brother Moses was drafted several times for the Revolutionary Army, but since he was so young, Josiah served in his stead; there is no doubt that his active service in the Army was considerable, but the details are not available for this record. According to family tradition, Josiah developed an alcoholic habit while in the Army and on his return home, the Church officials reasoned with him and finally dropped his name from the Church roll. At some time subsequent to his discharge from the Army he left Worcester and settled at Quinsigamond* and from him the Quinsigamond Perrys are descended.

Mary Clark 26 Dec. 1784; she d. the next year 15 Oct. at Worcester, leaving one daughter. Moses mar. (2)Hannah Hall 26 Apr. 1791, Worcester, Mass. Hannah b. 19 Mar. 1768, Uxbridge, Mass., dau. Nehemiah Hall and Sarah Hayward. Hannah, the only daughter, was born after her parents had been married 19 years and after the birth of several sons. (It is remarkable that Hannah had eight sons before the birth of her only daughter.) Hannah was descended from Rev. Edward Hall who came to America and settled in Duxbury, Mass. 1636, Edward's son John was the father of Nehemiah. She was also descended from many other first-comers, and from those prominent in the affairs of the colonies. The family was remarkable for its longivity, for its individualism and for its active patriotism. Her father and grandfather, as well as numerous brothers, uncles and cousins, served in the Revolutionaary Army as well as taking parts in the struggle known as the French and Indian Wars.

Moses Perry inherited the farm as well as the ancestral occupation of weaver. These were years of civic strife in Worcester and throughout the country. Industry was injured and the schools broken up. Moses had but six weeks of schooling annually, yet he was an intelligent person and became a far-seeing man of affairs. He was frugal, industrious, prosperous, esteemed by community and church. Though of a somewhat placid nature, he had great force of character. He was Deacon in Old South Church for 35 yrs.

After Hannah and Moses were married, his parents resided in the same home until their deaths at the ages of 94 and 87. When Samuel Perry, fourth son of Moses, who was to inherit the farm, married, he brought his bride to the old home. Such was the character of this three-generation home, since there was an interval of only 10 years between the death of Moses' mother and of Moses' son Samuel, in 1823, the same year the new house was built.

Moses d. at Worcester 12 Mar. 1842; Hannah survived him by 19 yrs., the date of her death being 26 Nov. 1861, at Worcester. In his will, probated 3 May 1842, Moses stipulated in detail and at the same length, his bequests to Hannah and the portions of the house which were to be reserved for her exclusive use "so long as she shall remain my widow, ..., but not to dispose of the same to any person whatever." While Samuel was named an inheritor of the farm and home, and sole executor of the estate, Moses made generous bequests to all his other children and grandchildren then living, in his will.

Arthur L. Perry grad. 1852, Williams College, Williamstown, Mass. (All his five sons were also Williams graduates.) All his adult life he was professor of history and political economy at Williams; he also became widely known as an economist and an author. He was a member of the Mass. Historical Society and was at one time president of the Berkshire Historical and Scientific Society. On retirement, Arthur Latham Perry, D.D., LL.D. was made Emeritus Professor.

One of his small books, "Miscellanies" published at Williamstown, 1902, contains one chapter entitled "An Ancestral Research" in which the present writer discovered several facts concerning the history of the descendants of John Perry of London, hitherto unknown. The preface to "Miscellanies" begins thus:

"As the time draws sensibly near to the survivors of the Williams College class of 1852, as they propose to gather at Williamstown in June to keep their semi-centennial celebration of graduation, I have been led to consider whether there be anything that I could do in a formal way to make somewhat more memorial than it otherwise might be a meeting to which I look forward with the deepest interest. The only reason why I should entertain a feeling of this sort more than any other member of the class is this: The year following our graduation had not more than one-half passed by when I received and accepted the position in the college which I now hold Emeritus and with a salary; so that my home has virtually been in Williamstown for fifty years without a break, besides the four years which we spent together here as a college class."

Arthur d. 9 July 1905 at Williamstown; Mary d. 20 July 1916, also at Williamstown; they were laid to rest in College cy. there.

Edward was blind from the age of two years; he became a fine example of his mother's revolutionizing method of teaching the blind. He learned to play games, climb trees, swim, skate, dance, and ride horseback; he early learned to walk alone, with his cane, and later on traveled throughout the United States and Europe alone. He became a concert pianist unrivalled by any American pianist with sight. In ten winters he gave 1300 recitals in U. S. He originated the lecture recital, the idea of prefacing the music with stories of its meaning.

6911a Edith Churchill Perry-8 b. 11 July 1869, Medford, Mass., dau. Charlotte S. Hough and Baxter Edwards Perry-7 (6901) (anc. above) mar. Henry Stephen Hopkins Jr. 21 July 1899, Camden, Me. Henry b. 23 July 1861, Peoria, Ill., son of Henry Stephen Hopkins Sr. and Emily Hough.

Charlotte and Emily Hough were sisters; when they were young, they were friends of Baxter E. Perry and Henry S. Hopkins; these four were together whenever possible and for some time the men cared so much for both the girls that a decision for marriage was hard to make. In the end Baxter chose Charlotte and Henry chose Emily. Then years later when Baxter's son Edward met Henry's daughter Nettie, they "fell in love at first sight." "And when Henry Hopkins' son Henry J. came from Peoria, Ill. to spend his summer vacation in our home in Medford, Mass. he and I fell in love the same way, drawn by an irresistible attraction. My husband's father said, 'How could they help it when their parents had been so fond of each other.'" (From Edith Perry Hopkins, 7-5-1952)

Henry S. Hopkins Jr. was a cashier. He d. 21 Nov. 1933, New York, N. Y. Edith's home is Allendale, N .J., but she spends the winters at DeLand, Florida (339 N. Clara Ave.) Her eyesight has become very poor. She and Henry had no children.

6918 Bliss Perry-8 b. 25 Nov. 1860, Williamstown, Mass., son Mary Brown Smedley and Arthur Latham Perry-7 (6903) (Rev. Baxter-6; Moses-5; Nathan-4; Josiah-3; John-2; John-1). He grad. Williams College,Williamstown, Mass. with A.B. degree in 1881, (and A.M. in 1883). The next five years he spent as an instructor at Williams, followed by two years of study at Strasbourg and Berlin, in Germany. After returning from Europe he settled down as professor of English at Williams where his father was still on the faculty. He and Annie Louise Bliss were mar. 7 Aug. 1888, New Haven, Conn. Annie b. 13 Sept. 1864, New Haven, Conn., dau. of Franklin R. Bliss* (b. Savoy, Mass.) and Evelyn Goodno. Evelyn Goodno and Mary B. Smedley went to school in Lanesboro, Mass. Arthur L. Perry, then a student at Williams, taught both girls, who became life-long friends. After Evelyn and Franklin Bliss were married and living in New Haven, Conn. where he was in business, the two families visited each other frequently. Thus Bliss Perry knew Annie Bliss from childhood.

In 1893 Bliss Perry was called to Princeton as professor of oratory and esthetic criticism. Six years later he was chosen to succeed Dean James O. Murray as Holmes professor of English Literature and belles-lettres. Only two months later he was appointed editor of "The Atlantic Monthly" to succeed Walter Hines Page; since Princeton was reluctant in letting him go, he consented to remain there a year after he accepted the editorial post, during which he lived in Princeton and worked in Boston. At departure he was awarded an L.H.D. degree.

From 1899 to 1909 Bliss Perry was editor of "The Atlantic Monthly." In 1907 he was appointed professor of English Literature at Harvard University and for two years he filled both his editorial post and his chair at Harvard after which he resigned from the "Atlantic." The position at Harvard had last been occupied by James Russell Lowell forty years previously, the officials considering Mr. Perry the first one worthy to fill the post.

Publishing had been his "House of Rimmon"; his heart was lifted to another shrine, the shrine of teaching. So he went from Park St. to the ground floor of Massachusetts Hall, the oldest Harvard building, and "here, three mornings a week, enrolled in his course or not enrolled, undergraduates jammed in and with standees at the back listened in a pin-drop silence to his lectures on the English and American novelists, sometimes at the end burst into applause or perhaps, as after the one on Robert Louis Stevenson, too moved to speak." In 1926 he became the first Francis Lee Higginson Professor of English Literature. In 1930 he became professor emeritus. He served as overseer of Harvard College 1935-41.

He was Harvard lecturer, by exchange, at the University of Paris, 1909-10.

*Franklin R. Bliss-8 1826-1920 son of Ephraim Bliss-7 (1782-1832) and Olive Ingraham; Ephraim Bliss-6, 1753-1822, and Hannah Carpenter; Ephraim Bliss-5, 1726-1814, and Bliss-3 of Rehoboth, 1666-1719, and Miriam Carpenter; Jonathon Bliss-2, 1625-1687, born in England, lived in Rehoboth, Mass. mar. Miriam Harmon; Thomas Bliss-1 mar. Dorothy Wheatley in Eng. was living in Rehoboth, Mass. 1643; died 1647. For other descendants of Thomas Bliss See No. 5008.

History will probably record Bliss Perry as a teacher primarily, yet his writings alone would have gained him a niche in the hall of fame. His fictional works, "The Plated City," "The Powers at Play," "Salem Kittredge and Other Stories," and "The Broughton House" are overshadowed by, and he is best known for his biographical and critical works. He was considered an authority on Ralph Waldo Emerson, having edited "The Heart of Emerson's Journals" and written "Emerson Today." Other works included: 'A Study of Prose and Fiction," "Park Street Papers," "The American Spirit in Literature," "A Study of Poetry," "The American Mind," "Carlyle," "Whittier," "Walt Whitman," "The Amateur Spirit," "The Praise of Folly," "Life and Letters of Henry Lee Higginson,' and others. He edited "Selections from Burke," Scott's "Woodstock" and "Ivanhoe," 18 volumes of "Little Masterpieces," and the Cambridge Edition of the poets.

One of Bliss Perry's books, "Pools and Ripples" published in 1927, was a series of essays about fishing, with its famous first chapter on "Revisited Rivers" and its first sentence, "Revisiting a river is like trying to redream a dream." In his student days Bliss was a baseball player and was for many years an enthusiastic fisherman. Many of his lecture-hall metaphors were drawn from the vocabulary of sports. Some of his philosophy probably had the same source.

His book "And Gladly Teach" published 1935, autobiographical in nature, will stand as a memorial to his life as a scholar and instructor of the young. He based its title on a line in Chaucer that might have been written about himself: "And gladly would he learn, and gladly teach." For Professor Perry gladly learned and gladly taught throughout his long life, and thousands of Harvard men recall his lectures as they recall no others. A chapter of this book is devoted to Thomas Woodrow Wilson, his faculty colleague at Princeton, who later became President of the United States. Professor Perry was also a friend of Theodore Roosevelt and a Princeton neighbor of Grover Cleveland.

Bliss Perry was a Fellow of the Royal Society of Literature, a member of the American Academy of Arts and Letters, the Massachusetts Historical Society, and was a trustee of Williams College. He held honorary degrees from Princeton, Williams, and the University of Vermont, the degree of Litt.D. from Bowdoin and Harvard, and that of LL.D. from Wake Forest and the University of Pennsylvania. He became trustee emeritus of Williams in 1936. In 1937 he became a Chevalier of the Legion of Honor of France.

His last few years were spent at Exeter, N. Hamp. His wife preceded him in death by six years, passing on 23 Feb. 1948, Milton, Mass. After a brief illness Bliss Perry died 13 Feb. 1954, at his home in Exeter. "After

Dr. Lewis Perry, left his place as English professor at Williams in 1914 to become principal of New England's Phillips Exeter Academy which was founded the year Cornwallis surrendered, by John Phillips, whose nephew, Samuel Phillips started rival Andover Academy 28 miles away. Notable Exonian alumni include Daniel Webster, sons of Abraham Lincoln, U. S. Grant, and Grover Cleveland; Booth Tarkington, Robert Benchley, and the banker Thomas W. Lamont.

His years of tenure at Exeter are important for his erasure of the large debt in which he found the school and the establishment of a ten million dollar endowment largely through his fund raising abilities; for the 33 new Georgian brick buildings erected on the campus; for the democracy he brought to the school. The faculty is now practically self-governing and so, to a large extent is the student body. The principal abolished fraternities in 1940 because he thought them too clannish. One representative of the institution spends his time searching out likely sons of the poorer classes to become recipients of a large part of the $105,000 Exeter spends annually on scholarships since Dr. Perry believes poor boys should have a chance. When he retired from his place as principal in 1946, Lewis Perry was greatly missed by board of trustees, faculty and students alike. ("Goodbye, Mr. Perry" page 74, Time Nov. 26, 1945)

Since 1946 he has been active in the management of Boston Symphony Orchestra. He and his wife make their home in Hotel Vendome, Boston.

Samuel Perry-6 and His Descendants

"All things must have their day,
The old must pass away,
The new must take their place
With more aesthetic grace.
But they, too, cannot stay,—
They, too, must pass away;
Whether we care or not,
This is the common lot."

—"The Old Homestead and Its Occupants" by Miss Mary S. Perry, read at a family gathering in 1889.

6825 Samuel Perry-6 b. 26 Nov. 1796, Worcester, Mass., son of Hannah Hall and Moses Perry-5 (6753) (Nathan-4; Josiah-3; John-2; John-1). While his brothers received college educations and became ministers, it appears possible that Samuel was from early in his life considered by the family to be the one to inherit the farm and carry on the tradition of the homestead. At any rate he remained on the farm, and when he married at the age of 27, he brought his bride to the ancestral home, cared for his parents through their old age, and continued to reside there until his passing. Samuel was Captain of the Mass. Militia, using that title in social life until he became Deacon of Union Church, of which he and his father were founders, in 1836; this office he held until 1871 when the custom of electing deacons for a life tenure was discarded.

He was graduated at Yale Univ. 1863, and from Yale Divinity School 1867, and after tutoring there for a short while, he studied in Germany and traveled extensively in Europe. On his return to America, he was asked to join the Yale faculty. Temporarily impaired eyesight caused him to decline this. Following the advice of Dr. Cutler of Union Church, Worcester, he entered the home missionary field in Nebraska, 1872. Conditions were of the hardest in the section to which he was appointed: he boarded in the only frame house in that region, yet the funishings of his room were almost non-existent; no meat was raised within twenty miles and there were no fowls or eggs. One year while he was there, grasshoppers caused a general destruction of crops. Nevertheless he was sympathetic in his attitude and came to have decided influence among the people. Later in church convention he was asked to prepare a class of students for college. As an outcome of these efforts, Doane College, at Crete, Nebr. came into being. He was professor of Greek and Latin at Doane 1873-1881. In 1881 he was appointed president of Doane College which position he retained until his death. For forty years his efforts centered in his work and through his unfailing, self-sacrificing devotion Doane College gained a high standing among the important educational institutions of the country. He was granted an honorary D.D. degree by Yale in 1898.

Another man who was instrumental in the founding of Doane College was Col. Thomas Doane, a civil engineer and chief engineer of the Hoosac tunnel in Mass. Through their association at Crete, David B. Perry came to know the Doane family, and 3 July 1876 he and Helen, dau. of the Col. were mar. at Charleston, Mass. She was b. 7 Sept. 1853, at Charles-

Henry Parker-6 9 Apr. 1828. Henry b. 24 Feb. 1800, Holden, Mass., son Aaron Parker-5 (b. 1767, Holden; d. 1811, Holden) and Ruth Smith (b. 1768, Worcester, Mass.; d. 1852). He was born on the place first occupied by his grandfather Timothy Parker on Shrewsbury St. His father died when he, Henry, was 11 years old, but he managed to obtain some education and to become a teacher. He spent some time in the western states, returning some time prior to 1829. In Milbury, Mass. he built a house in which his four eldest children were born, and a store and cabinet shop. In 1834 he sold these properties and for three and a half years lived on the place where he was born. Henry Parker then purchased the Artemus Bartlett place, on Parker Avenue in Holden, a mile distant from his birthplace, where he lived out his days. This home, now called the Parker Place, has been owned and occupied by the many generations of Parkers since. Mr. Parker's handwriting was almost equal to copper-plate engraving it has been stated; he was noted as a teacher of penmanship.

At the time of the great agitation throughout the country on the extension of slavery into the western states, he opposed the movement with all his power, being confident that the best way to prevent it would be to encourage anti-slavery settlers to fill up the country. He issued a call in the "Daily Spy" on 21 Mar. 1854 to "all persons opposed to the extension of slavery, and such as would like to form colonies to emigrate to the West, to meet at the city hall in Worcester, Mass., Tues. 18 Apr. 1854. However an organization was formed, endorsing the movemnt, other press heartily endorsed the movement. Forty or fifty delegates were present from various towns in Mass., R. I., and Conn. John Milton Earle called the meeting to order stating that the sudden death of the caller had left them without any formulated plans. Henry Parker had died 31 Mar. 1854. However an organization was formed, endorsing the movement, other conventions following. It was supported by Charles Sumner, Horace Greeley, Joshua Giddings and others. Thus Mr. Parker took part in the movement to settle Kansas and make it a free state.

Matilda Perry Parker died at the Parker home place in Holden, Mass., 16 Oct. 1860.

The First Three Generations

#14 Joseph Perry-3 b. 17 Jan. 1690/1, Watertown, Mass., son Sarah Clary and John Perry-2 (No. 4) (John-1; John-0). Much less is known concerning this son and grandson of the emigrant ancestors, and his descendants, than about other branches of the family; it is hoped that further research will widen this knowledge, but for this record all that is known of this branch of the family will be found in this and the following chapters. These facts are largely the result of the research efforts of Warren Dunning Perry, recently deceased.

Joseph was a weaver, following in the trade of his ancestors. He and his wife Mary ..... lived in Brookfield, Mass.

There is a record of a Mary Perry who became the wife of a John Avery in Brookfield; it is probable that she was a daughter of Joseph Perry but the fact has not been proven. This John and Mary (Perry) Avery had a daughter Ann who was baptized 22 Sept. 1749; they removed to Westminster, Windham Co., Vt.

PART FIVE

Descendants of William Perry-1

Since William Perry was a brother (probably) of John Perry of London, the records of his descendants are not properly a part of the present writing, strictly speaking; yet the following facts are included to show the relationship between two Perry families (or two branches of the same family) who lived in close proximity in Massachusetts from the early days of its colonial history.

#3 William Perry-1 b. about 1606, was prob. son of Judith (Vassel?) and the Rev. John Perry, who is believed to have been rector of the Parish Church of Farneborough, Hampshire, England. In 1628 a William Perry was apprenticed to William Wilkes in the Clothworkers Guild in London; with little doubt he was the William Perry under consideration since John Perry was apprenticed to John Lawson of the same Clothworkers Guild in 1621. Yet a statement in the will of one John Larson which mentioned William Wilkes (the same to which William Perry was apprenticed) and Wilkes' daughter, "Mrs. Margaret Perry and her son, my servant," might lead one to believe there was no relationship between John and William Perry. Further research may resolve this uncertainty.

About the year 1638, William arrived at Scituate, Mass. Whether he came as a single man or with wife is unknown. In 1640, or before, he removed to Watertown, Mass.; thence came John Perry from London twenty-eight years later, to settle near the man thought to be his brother. In Watertown, William died in 1683.

He is now serving as trust officer of the Pioneer Bank, Chattanooga, Tenn. CHAPTER 25

Ezra and Edward Perry

The names of Edward, Ezra, Deborah, Hannah, and Margaret Perry appeared in the records of Sandwich, Mass., about five years after its settlement in 1637. The Narragansett Historical Register (p. 275) and other sources state that Edward Perry was here about 1636. These five are believed to have been the sons and daughters of Edmond Perry and his wife Sarah of Devonshire, England. Sarah was also mentioned in the records of Sandwich.

A brief outline of the descendants of Ezra and Edward is given here as a part of the general history of those who bear the Perry name. There is a family tradition persistent among the descendants of Abijah Perry Sr. (50) (chapter 3) that their ancestors were cousins of Commodore Oliver Hazard Perry who was of the Edward Perry family. The following accounts are offered as further proof of the error of that tradition.

Perrys in the Early Records of the Thirteen Colonies

It is not known how many there were of the name of Perry who arrived from the Old World to settle in the New during the first century. Of the considerable number whose names appear in the early records of Mass. and Conn., of Virginia and the other colonies, the antecedents and place of origin of only a few are known; as a consequence, any relationship between the different Perrys which may have existed is a mystery which has intrigued genealogists for two hundred years. Some of this mystery may be dispelled through further research, yet, it is safe to say, never all of it. Some of these early records are repeated here as a comparison and as a challenge to other family historians.

Probably the first record of a Perry in America was that of a "Mrs. Perry and child," who resided in James City, Virginia, in 1623.

Francis Perry b. about 1608, resided in Salem, Mass., in 1631; he was a wheelwright and carpenter. He was granted two acres of land in Salem in 1636; in 1653 he removed to Lynn and two years later to the Island of Barbados.

His children baptized in Salem:

Benjamin, bp. 18 July 1641
Sarah, bp. 18 July 1641
David, bp. 2 Aug. 1641
Samuel, bp. 10 Apr. 1642
Elisha, bp. 11 Aug. 1644

Henry Perry: there was a Henry Perry mentioned in the will of one Menefie in Virginia in 1645. There is a record of a Henry Perry in Salem, Mass., in 1652. Among the purchasers of Rhode Island was one Henry Perry.

Hugh Perry: sailed on the "Falcon," from London, for Virginia, in Dec. 1635.

John Perry: Besides the men named John Perry whose records are elsewhere in this writing, in Newbury, Mass., in 1651, resided one John Perry with wife Demaris. There was a John Perry living in Taunton, Mass. in 1643, and a John Perry was a proprietor of New Haven, Conn., 1685. A Capt. John Perry settled in Westmoreland County, Virginia before 1661; he is believed to have been a brother of Phillip.

Joseph Perry: resided in Rehoboth, Mass., 1651.

Joseph Perry: a resident of Scituate, Mass. 1650. He and his wife Mary had at least one son, named Jonathon.

Jonathon Perry: b. 28 Dec. 1730, Scituate, Mass. One writer asserts this man was the same Jonathon mentioned directly above, yet the difference of 80 years in the dates almost certainly rules out this possibility. This Jonathon removed from Scituate to Topsham, Maine, where he bought a farm 7 Mar. 1763. mar. Margaret Malcolm, dau. William and Martha Malcolm; she was b. Topsham 16 Aug. 1736. She d. 16 Aug. 1793. He mar. (2) Hannah Whittemore of Bowdoinham, Me. She d. 13 Apr. 1806, aged 70 years; Jonathon d. 8 May 1816.

Children of Margaret and Jonathon Perry:

David, b. 22 Dec. 1762, d. 18 Dec. 1844, m. Mrs. Margaret (Owen) Wilson
Sarah, b. 28 June 1765, d. 13 Jan. 1792, m. William Stinson
John, b. 4 Feb. 1768, d. 2 Feb. 1854, m. Jennet Winchell
Charles, b. 16 Mar. 1773, d. 25 Jan. 1863, m. Sarah Blair
Joseph, b. 30 Oct. 1778, d. 11 Oct. 1820, m. Sarah Whitmore

For more information on this Perry family reference may be made to the book compiled by Arthur Lincoln Perry, grandson of Joseph, of Gardiner, Me., pub. 1890.

Matthew Perry: may have been son of Thomas Perry of Ipswich, Mass. mar. Elizabeth Blake 1665 in Ipswich, Mass. She was dau. of Elizabeth and George Blake.

Children of Elizabeth and Matthew Perry:

Matthew, b. 1666, d. young
Samuel, b. 1668
John, b. 1669
Waitstill, b. 1674, d. 1674
Elizabeth, b. 1675

William, b. 1679
Matthew, b. 1681
Ruth, b. 1682
Masille, b. 1684
Dorothy, b. 1685
Jonah

This Jonah Perry was administrator of the estate of Matthew in 1698, yet his birth is not listed with those of the other children. He may have been a son of Matthew by a marriage which occurred prior to 1665.

Mrs. Ruth Perry Stevens, Tioga County (N. Y.) historian, of Owego, N. Y. is descended from Matthew Perry:

Matthew Perry-1 (m. Elizabeth Blake); John Perry-2; (m. Priscilla Gatchell); John Perry-3 (m. Elizabeth Dwelly); Paul Perry-4 (m. Drucilla Hathaway); Daniel Perry-5 (m. Anna Hewitt); Elisha Hewitt Perry-6

Phillip Perry: settled in Isle of Wight County, Virginia before 1640; his grandfather Micajah Perry was a resident of London, England. Phillip mentioned his wife and the following children in his will drawn 1667: John, Jacob, James, Joseph, and Phillip.

Richard Perry: There was a Richard Perry in Mass. in 1629; this may have been the one whose name appeared on the charter of "Government of the Colony."

Richard Perry: a resident of New Haven, Conn. in 1640. Name of his first wife is unknown. He prob. was the Richard Perry who mar. Grace Nicholas, a widow, in Fairfield, Conn. in 1650 and died there in 1658.

Thomas Perry: A Thomas Perry with wife Alice (or Alyce) was among the first settlers of Essex Co. Mass. This may have been the Thomas who was a resident of Ipswich, Essex Co., Mass. in 1648.

Thomas Perry: resident of Scituate, Mass., in 1643; he mar. Sarah Stedman, dau. of Isaac Stedman. (notice another Sarah Stedman who was wife of Samuel Perry, (7497) (of Roxbury.)
